PART I. FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Item 1. Financial Statements.

See the financial statements following the signature page of this report, which are incorporated herein by reference.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

The following discussion and analysis of our company's financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the related notes included elsewhere in this report. In this report, the terms "we," "the Company," "our company," and "our" refer to Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd., a Virginia corporation. This discussion contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results and the timing of selected events could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of various factors.

Overview

We are a shipping agency service provider for foreign ships coming to Chinese ports. Our company, previously known as Sino-Global-Shipping (America) Ltd., was incorporated in New York in February 2001. On September 18, 2007, we amended the Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws to merge into a new corporation with the current name of Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd., in Virginia.

Our principal geographic market is in the People's Republic of China ("PRC"). As PRC laws and regulations restrict foreign ownership of shipping agency service businesses, we operate our business in the PRC through Sino-Global Shipping Agency, Ltd. ("Sino-China"), a PRC limited liability company wholly owned by our founder and Chief Executive Officer, Cao Lei, and Chief Financial Officer, Zhang Mingwei, both of whom are PRC citizens. Sino-China holds the licenses and permits necessary to provide shipping services in the PRC. Headquartered in Beijing with branches in Ningbo, Qingdao, Tianjin, Qinhuangdao, Fangchenggang, we provide general shipping agency services in all commercial ports in China.

On November 13, 2007, we formed our wholly foreign-owned enterprise, Trans Pacific Shipping Limited ("Trans Pacific Beijing), in Beijing, which established a subsidiary, Trans Pacific Logistics Shanghai, Limited ("Trans Pacific Shanghai"), in Shanghai on May 31, 2009. This increases our presence to nine ports in mainland China and will enable us to provide a full range of shipping agency services as well as freight forwarder services. Trans Pacific established another subsidiary, Sino-Global Shipping Agency Development Co., Limited, in Beijing on November 2, 2009 in order to develop additional business opportunities for the company.

Trans Pacific and Sino-China do not have a parent-subsidiary relationship. Instead, each of Trans Pacific and us has contractual arrangements with Sino-China and its shareholders that enable us to substantially control over Sino-China. See "Our Corporate Structure - Contractual Arrangements with Sino-China and its Shareholders."

On May 20, 2008, we completed an initial public offering of 1,229,032 ordinary shares at a $7.75 offering price. Our shares started trading on the NASDAQ Capital Market the next day.

With a purpose of building up an international shipping agency service network, we formed a wholly-owned subsidiary, Sino-Global Shipping Australia Pty Ltd. ("Sino-Global AUS") in Perth, Australia on July 3, 2008 in order to serve the needs of customers shipping into and out of Western Australia. We also signed an agreement with Monson Agencies Australia ("Monson"), one of the largest shipping agency service providers in Australia. Through Monson, we are able to provide general shipping agency services to all ports in Australia.

We established another wholly-owned subsidiary, Sino-Global Shipping (HK) Limited ("Sino-Global HK") on September 22, 2008. We expect that Sino-Global HK will become our control and management center for southern Chinese ports and will enable our company to extend its offering of comprehensive shipping agency services to vessels going to and from one of the world's busiest ports. On July 27, 2009, Sino-Global HK signed an exclusive partnership agreement with Forbes & Company Limited ("Forbes"), which is a listed company on the Bombay Stock Exchange (BOM: 502865) and one of the largest shipping and logistic service providers in India. Through Forbes, the Company is able to provide general shipping agency services to all ports in India.

Following the initial public offering, our Board authorized a stock repurchase program under which we may repurchase up to 10% of our outstanding common stock for a period of 12 months, which began October 9, 2008. In September 2009, our Board approved to extend the stock repurchase program for another six months ended April 2010. As of December 31, 2009, we repurchased 119,686 shares of our common stock from the open market at an average price of $2.95 per share including trading expenses. The total cost of stock repurchase through December 31, 2009 was $352,748.

Revenues

For the six months and three months ended December 31, 2009, our total revenues amounted to approximately $12.88 million and $6.63 million, representing a 34.51% and 48.22% increase from our total revenues for the same periods in 2008. We expect our top line growth will continue along with the economy recovery in China and around the world.

Our total revenues are net of PRC business taxes and related surcharges. Sino-China's revenues are subject to a 5% business tax as well as an additional 0.5% surcharge after deducting the costs of services. We deduct these amounts from our gross revenues to arrive at our total revenues.

We charge the shipping agency fees in two ways: (1) the fixed fees are predetermined with a customer, and (2) the cost-plus fees are calculated based on the actual costs incurred plus a mark up. We generally require payments in advance from customers and bill them the balances within 30 days after the transactions are completed.

We believe the most significant factors that directly or indirectly affect our shipping agency service revenues are:

- the number of ships to which we provide port loading/discharging services;
- the size and types of ships we serve;
- the rate of service fees we charge;
- the number of ports at which we provide services; and
- the number of customers we serve.

Historically, our services have primarily been driven by the increase in the number of ships and customers, provided that the rate of service fees is determined by market competition. We believe that an increase in the number of ports served generally leads to an increase in the number of ships and customers. We expect that we will continue to earn a substantial majority of our revenues from our shipping agency services. As a result, we plan to continue to focus most of our resources on expanding our business to cover more ports in the PRC. In addition, we will allocate our resources in marketing our brand to customers, including ship owners and charters, which transport goods from all ports around the world to China.

Operating Costs and Expenses

Our operating costs and expenses consist of costs of revenues, general and administrative expenses, selling expenses and other expenses. Our company's total operating costs and expenses decreased as a percentage of total revenues for the six months and three months ended December 31, 2009 mainly due to our tightened budget control over general and administrative expenses. The following table sets forth the components of our company's costs and expenses for the periods indicated.

Costs of Revenues. Costs of revenues represent the expenses incurred in the periods when a ship docks in a harbor to load and unload cargo. We typically pay the costs of revenues on behalf of our customers. We receive revenues from our clients in U.S. dollars and pay the costs of revenues to the Chinese local port agents in RMB. As such, the costs of services will change if the foreign currency exchange rates change. Our costs of revenues could also increase if the ports were to raise their charges, particularly in the case of overtime payments during the public holidays. With our cost control efforts, our costs of revenues as a percentage of our total revenues, slightly decreased from 89.44% to 87.73% and from 90.65% to 88.25% for the six months and three months ended December 31 2009 and 2008, respectively. The exchange rate of U.S. dollars against the Chinese RMB was relatively stable during the period.

General and Administrative Expenses. Our general and administrative expenses primarily consist of salaries and benefits for our staff, both operating and administrative personnel, depreciation expenses, office rental expenses and expenses for legal, accounting and other professional services. For the six months and three months ended December 31, 2009, our general and administrative expenses as a percentage of our total revenues decreased from 22.70% to 13.95% and from 25.83% to 14.14% for the six months and three months ended December 31, 2008, respectively. Our budget control efforts appear effective in improving our operating results, although we still incurred large expenses on our business expansion and company public listing expenses.

Selling Expenses. Our selling expenses primarily consist of commissions and traveling expenses for our operating staff to the ports at which we provide services. Our selling expenses decreased in both absolute amount and as a percentage of our total net revenues for the six months and three months ended December 31, 2009. We effectively control the selling budgets.

Critical Accounting Policies

We prepare the condensed consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP"). These accounting principles require us to make judgments, estimates and assumptions on the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the end of each fiscal period, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during each fiscal period. We continually evaluate these judgments and estimates based on our own historical experience, knowledge and assessment of current business and other conditions, our expectations regarding the future based on available information and assumptions that we believe to be reasonable.

The selection of critical accounting policies, the judgments and other uncertainties affecting application of those policies and the sensitivity of reported results to changes in conditions and assumptions are factors that should be considered when reviewing our financial statements. We believe the following accounting policies involve the most significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of our condensed consolidated financial statements.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue comprises the value of charges for the services in the ordinary course of our company's activities and disbursements made on behalf of customers. Revenues are recognized from shipping agency services upon completion of the services, which generally coincides with the date of departure of the relevant vessel from port. Advance payments and deposits received from customers prior to the provision of services and recognition of the related revenues are presented as current liabilities.

Some contracts are signed with a term that revenues are recognized as a mark up of actual expenses incurred. In a situation where the services are completed but the information on the actual expenses is not available at the end of the fiscal period, we estimate revenues and expenses based on our previous experience for the revenues of the same kind of vessels, port charges on the vessel's particulars/movement and costs rate of the port. See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations - Accounts Receivable."

Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities

Sino-China is considered to be a VIE and we are the primary beneficiary. On November 14, 2007, our company through Trans Pacific entered into agreements with Sino-China, pursuant to which we receive 90% of Sino-China's net income. We do not receive any payment from Sino-China unless Sino-China recognizes net income during its fiscal year. These agreements do not entitle us to any consideration if Sino-China incurs a net loss during its fiscal year. In accordance with the agreements, Sino-China pays consulting and marketing fees equal to 85% and 5%, respectively, of its net income to our new wholly foreign-owned subsidiary, Trans Pacific, and Trans Pacific supplies the technology and personnel needed to service Sino-China. Sino-China was designed to operate in China for the benefit of our company.

The accounts of Sino-China are consolidated in the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements pursuant to Accounting Standard Codification ("ASC") 810-10, "Consolidation". As a VIE, Sino-China's sales are included in our total sales, its income (loss) from operations is consolidated with our company's, and our net income (loss) from continuing operations before non-controlling interest in income (loss) includes all of Sino-China's net income (loss).

Our non-controlling interest in its income (loss) is then subtracted in calculating the net income (loss) attributable to our company. Because of the contractual arrangements, our company had a pecuniary interest in Sino-China that requires consolidation of our and Sino-China's financial statements.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable are recognized at net realizable value. We maintain allowances for doubtful accounts for estimated losses resulting from the failure of customers to make required payments in the relevant time period. We review the accounts receivable on a periodic basis and record general and specific allowances when there is doubt as to the collectability of individual balances. In evaluating the collectability of individual receivable balances, we consider many factors, including the age of the balance, the customer's historical payment history, its current credit-worthiness and current economic trends. Receivables are considered past due after 365 days. Accounts are written off only after exhaustive collection efforts. We have determined that an allowance of $723,640 was required at December 31, 2009, which is no change from the amount at June 30, 2009 and September 30, 2009.

When a client requests our shipping agency services, we communicate with port officials and our service partners rely on our prior experience for similar vessels with similar needs in the same ports to obtain an estimate for the cost of services. We then calculate our shipping agency fees in two ways: (1) the fixed fees are predetermined with a customer, and (2) the cost-plus fees are calculated based on the actual costs incurred plus a mark up.

We generally obtain advance payment of our shipping agency fees prior to providing service to our clients. This significantly reduces the amount of accounts receivable when the shipping agency fees are recognized. To the extent our estimates are insufficient; we bill our clients for the balance to be paid within 30 days.

We use advance payments to pay a number of fees on behalf of our clients before their ships arrive in port, including harbor, berthing, mooring/unmooring, tonnage, immigration, quarantine and tug hire fees. We record the amounts we receive as Advances from Customers and the amounts we pay as Advances to Suppliers. We recognize revenues and expenses once the client's ship leaves the harbor and the client pays any outstanding amounts. In some cases, a delay in receiving bills will require us to estimate the Service Revenues and Costs of Services in accordance with the rate and formulas approved by the Ministry of Communications. When this happens, we record the difference between Service Revenues (as recognized) and Advances from Customers as Accounts Receivable and the difference between Cost of Services and Advances to Suppliers as Accounts Payable. To the extent we recognize revenues and costs in this way, our Accounts Receivable and Accounts Payable will reflect this estimation until we receive the bills and information we require to adjust revenues and expenses to reflect our actual Service Revenues and Cost of Services. Any adjustment to actual from the estimated Revenues and Cost of Services recorded has been and is expected to be immaterial.

Property and Equipment

We consider the carrying value of a long-lived asset to be impaired when the anticipated undiscounted cash flow from such asset is less than its carrying value. If impairment is identified, a loss is recognized based on the amount by which the carrying value exceeds the fair value of the long-lived asset. Fair value is determined primarily using the anticipated cash flows discounted at a rate commensurate with the risk involved or based on independent appraisals. We have determined that there were no impairments of fixed assets for the six months ended December 31, 2009.

Translation of Foreign Currency

The accounts of our company and Sino-China are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates (the "functional currency"). Our functional currency is the U.S. dollar, while Trans Pacific and Sino-China report their financial position and results of operations in Renminbi. The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars. Foreign currency transactions are translated into U.S. dollars using the fixed exchange rates in effect at the time of the transaction. Generally foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions are recognized in the consolidated statements of operations. We translate foreign currency financial statements of Sino-China, Trans Pacific, Sino-Global HK and Sino-Global AUS in accordance with ASC 830-10, "Foreign Currency Matters". Assets and liabilities are translated at current exchange rates in effect during the periods. Resulting translation adjustments are recorded as other comprehensive income (loss) and accumulated as a separate component of equity included in non-controlling interest.

Taxation

Because we and Sino-China are incorporated in different jurisdictions, we file separate income tax returns. We are subject to income and capital gains taxes in the United States. Additionally, dividend payments made by our company are subject to withholding tax in the United States.

We use the liability method of accounting for income taxes in accordance with US GAAP. Deferred taxes, if any, are recognized for the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and their reported amounts in the consolidated financial statements. We may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by the taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position would be measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than fifty percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. As of December 31, 2009, we recognized deferred tax assets of $397,000 including current deferred tax assets of $326,000 and non-current tax assets of $71,000. We have determined that no valuation allowance for deferred tax assets should be provided because it is more likely than not that we will be able to realize and recognize these deferred tax assets in the near future.

PRC Enterprise Income Tax

PRC enterprise income tax is calculated based on taxable income determined under PRC GAAP. Sino-China and Tran Pacific are registered in PRC and governed by the Enterprise Income Tax Laws of the PRC. Their taxable incomes are subject to an enterprise income tax rate of 25%.

PRC Business Tax

Revenues from services provided by Sino-China are subject to PRC business tax of 5% and additional surcharges of 0.5%. We pay business tax on gross revenues generated from our shipping agency services minus the costs of services, which are paid on behalf of our customers.

2010 Growth and Earnings Expectations

Our revenues have continued to grow in the first half of fiscal year 2010. Our revenues increased 34.51% for the six months ended December 31, 2009, of which the growth rates were 22.48% for the first quarter ended September 30, 2009 and 48.22% for the second quarter ended December 31, 2009. We renewed the agency service agreement with

Edgar Filing: Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd. - Form 10-Q

Beijing Shou Rong, our largest customer, which accounted for 58% of our revenues for the first half fiscal year of 2010. The agency service agreement is renewable and will expire on December 31, 2011. We expect that this renewed agreement is likely to enable our revenues to continue to grow in line with the increased demand for iron ore in China. We have been marketing our business to other potential clients and looking for opportunities in other areas in shipping and logistic industries.

We have incurred losses for the last eight quarters. The world financial crisis has negatively affected our operations, in addition to the fact that fewer shipments have occurred during the crisis, we receive most of our revenues in US dollars and pay most of our expenses in Chinese Renminbi. As a result, we have faced increased costs of revenues, due to the devaluation of RMB against US dollar. While our general and administrative expenses are significantly higher than their pre-IPO levels as a result of our business expansion and our company's public listing, we have reduced these amounts for the six months ended December 31, 2009 compared to the same period in 2008. In the first half of the 2010 fiscal year, we concentrated on budget cut without compromising business promotion.

Results of Operations

Due to the economic uncertainties associated with the world wide financial crisis, it is difficult for us to predict future operating results. We believe that period-to-period comparisons of operating results should not be relied upon as indicative of future performance.

Six Months Ended December 31, 2009 Compared to Six Months Ended December 31, 2008

Revenues. Our total revenues increased by 34.51% from $9,573,195 for the six months ended December 31, 2008 to $12,877,051 in the comparable six months in 2009. The number of ships that generated revenues for us increased from 108 in the first six months of 2009 fiscal year, to 134 in the first six months in 2010 fiscal year, representing an increase of 24.07%. In addition, our revenues per ship increased during the six months ended December 31, 2009.

Total Operating Costs and Expenses. Our total operating costs and expenses increased by 20.00% from $10,973,918 for the six months ended December 31, 2008 to $13,168,453 for the six months ended December 31, 2009. This increase was primarily due to increases in our costs of revenues, offset by the decrease of our general and administrative expenses and selling expenses.

Cost of Revenues. Our cost of revenues increased by 31.93% from $8,562,514 for the six months ended December 31, 2008 to $11,296,568 for the six months ended December 31, 2009. Costs of revenues increased more slowly than revenues, resulting in a higher gross margin, which was 10.56% and 12.27% for the comparative six months in 2008 and 2009, respectively. We managed to achieve the higher gross margin through cost control even though the foreign exchange rate of Chinese currency against the U.S. dollar decreased from RMB6.8469 to $1.00 for the six months ended December 31, 2009.

General and Administrative Expenses. Our general and administrative expenses decreased by 17.36% from $2,173,456 for the first half fiscal year of 2008 to $1,796,094 for the first half fiscal year of 2009. Our general and administrative expenses reduced mainly because of (1) the decrease of $194,502 in travel, car and related expenses and (2) the reduced expenses of $182,765 in office rent and supplies. We spent $89,394 in Sarbanes-Oxley compliance for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to the similar expenses of $47,369 in the same six month period in 2008.

Selling Expenses. Our selling expenses decreased by 64.81% from $236,688 to $83,299 for the six months ended December 31, 2008 and 2009 respectively, due to our tightened budget in business promotion and travel expenses.

Operating Profit (Loss). We had an operating loss of $291,402 for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to an operating loss of $1,400,723 for the comparable six months in 2008. We significantly decreased our operating losses through our efforts in improving gross margin, reducing general and administrative expenses and selling expenses.

Financial Income, Net. Our net financial income was $185,760 for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to our net financial expense of $74,533 for the six months ended December 31, 2008. Our financial income is largely generated by interest income from cash in banks and offset by the foreign exchange loss recognized in the financial statement consolidation.

Taxation. Our income tax provision was $293,151 for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to $226,296 for the six months ended December 31, 2008. This includes estimated U.S. current income tax expenses of $331,151 offset by a deferred U.S. tax benefit of $38,000. We are not required to provide for income taxes in China until we generate net income. For further details, see Note 11 of the condensed consolidated financial statements.

Net Income. As a result of the foregoing, we had a net loss of $404,418 for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to net loss of $1,701,572 for the six months ended December 31, 2008. After deduction of non-controlling interest in loss of $465,478, net income attributable to Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd. was $61,060 for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to net loss attributable to Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd. of $1,331,579 for the six months ended December 31, 2008.

Three Months Ended December 31, 2009 Compared to Three Months Ended December 31, 2008

Revenues. Our total revenues increased by 48.22% from $4,474,518 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 to $6,632,243 in the three months ended December 31, 2009. The number of ships that generated revenues for us was 47 and 66 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 and 2009 respectively, representing an increase of 40.43%. In addition, our average revenues per ship increased during the three month period.

Total Operating Costs and Expenses. Our total operating costs and expenses increased by 28.44% from $5,351,578 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 to $6,873,482 for the three months ended December 31, 2009. This increase was primarily due to increases in our costs of services, offset by the decrease of our general and administrative expenses and selling expenses. Our efforts in controlling such expenses resulted in total operating costs and expenses increasing more slowly than revenues.

Cost of Revenues. Our cost of revenues increased by 44.31% from $4,055,949 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 to $5,853,104 for the three months ended December 31, 2009. Costs of revenues increased by less than revenues, resulting in a higher gross margin, which was 9.35% and 11.75% for the comparative three months ended December 31, 2008 and 2009, respectively. The foreign exchange rate of Chinese currency against the U.S. dollar was relatively stable during the three months ended December 31, 2009. The average foreign exchange rate decreased from RMB6.8390 to $1.00 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 to RMB6.8274 to $1.00 for the three months ended December 31, 2009.

General and Administrative Expenses. Our general and administrative expenses decreased by 18.87% from $1,155,706 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 to $937,673 for the three months ended December 31, 2009. Our general and administrative expenses reduced mainly because of (1) the decrease of $191,454 in travel, car and related expenses and (2) the reduced expenses of $101,820 in office rent and supplies, We spent $47,765 in Sarbanes-Oxley compliance for the three months ended December 31, 2009, compared to the similar expenses of $47,369 in the same three month period in 2008.

Selling Expenses. Our selling expenses decreased by 74.16% from $141,660 for the three months ended December 31, 2008 to $36,603 for the three months ended December 31, 2009 due to our efforts to tighten our budget for business promotion and travel expenses.

Operating Profit (Loss). We had an operating loss of $241,239 for the three months ended December 31, 2009, compared to operating loss of $877,060 for the comparable three months in 2008. We significantly decreased our operating losses through our efforts in improving gross margin, reducing general and administrative expenses and selling expenses.

Financial Income, Net. Our net financial income was $16,327 for the three months ended December 31, 2009, compared to our net financial loss of $90,312 for the three months ended December 31, 2008. Our financial income is largely generated by interest income from cash in banks and offset by the foreign exchange losses recognized in the financial statement consolidation.

Edgar Filing: Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd. - Form 10-Q

Net Income. As a result of the foregoing, we had a net losses of $389,771 for the three months ended December 31, 2009, compared to net losses of $1,121,038 for the three months ended December 31, 2008. After deduction of non-controlling interest in loss, net loss attributable to Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd. was $34,514 for the three months ended December 31, 2009, compared to net loss attributable to Sino-Global Shipping America, Ltd. of $901,346 for the three months ended December 31, 2008.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Cash Flows and Working Capital

We have financed our operations primarily through cash flows from operations and cash derived from our initial public offering.

Operating Activities

Our sales continued to increase and our gross margin was moderately improved during the six months ended December 31, 2009. For the six months ended December 31, 2009, our net cash used in operating activities was $67,890, compared to net cash used in operating activities of $1,548,172 for the comparable six months in 2008. The improvement of net cash in operating activities is mainly attributable to (1) the decrease in accounts receivable of $1,115,302, (2) the increase in accounts payable of $321,828 and (3) the increase in advances from customers of $266,328. This is mitigated by (1) an increase in advances to suppliers of $566,061 and (2) a decrease of other current liabilities of $546,377.

Investing Activities

Net cash used in investing activities was $2,617 for the six months ended December 31, 2009, compared to net cash used in investing activities of $183,718 for the six months ended December 31, 2008. Facing the worldwide financial crisis, we substantially reduced our capital spending.

Financing Activities

Net cash used in financing activities was $63,917, of which $66,846 was spent on repurchasing 13,586 shares of our outstanding common stock from the open market during the six months ended December 31, 2009.

We believe that our current cash, cash equivalents, and anticipated cash flow from operations will be sufficient to meet our anticipated cash needs, including cash needs for working capital and capital expenditures for at least the next 12 months. We may, however, require additional cash due to changing business conditions or other future developments, including any investments or acquisitions we may decide to pursue. If our existing cash is insufficient to meet our requirements, we may seek to sell additional equity securities or borrow from banks. However, financing may not be available in the amounts we need or on terms acceptable to us, if at all. The sale of additional equity securities, including convertible debt securities, would dilute our shareholders. The incurrence of debt would divert cash from working capital and capital expenditures to service debt obligations and could result in operating and financial covenants that would restrict our operations and our ability to pay dividends to our shareholders. If we are unable to obtain additional equity or debt financing as required, our business, operations and prospects may suffer.

Contractual Obligations and Commercial Commitments

We have leased certain office premises and apartments for employees under operating leases through December 31, 2011. Below is a summary of our company's contractual obligations and commitments as of December 31, 2009:

	Payment Due by Period
		More than 3
	Total	year	1-3 years	years
Contractual Obligations
Operating leases	$ 528,9	04 $ 386,499	$ 142,405	$

The Labor Contract Law of the PRC, effective as of January 1, 2008, requires employers to assure the liability of severance payments if employees are terminated and have been working for their employers for at least two years prior to January 1, 2008. The employers will be liable for one month of severance pay for each year of service provided by the employees. As of December 31, 2009, our company has estimated its severance payments to be approximately $79,200, which has not been reflected in our consolidated financial statements.

Company Structure

We conduct our operations primarily through our wholly-owned subsidiaries, Trans Pacific, Sino-AUS and Sino-HK and our variable interest entity, Sino-China. As a result, our ability to pay dividends and to finance any debt we may incur depends upon dividends paid by our subsidiaries and management fees paid by Sino-China. If our subsidiaries incur debt on their own behalf in the future, the instruments governing their debt may restrict their ability to pay dividends to us. In addition, Trans Pacific is permitted to pay dividends to us only out of its retained earnings, if any, as determined in accordance with PRC accounting standards and regulations. Under PRC law, wholly foreign-owned enterprises like Trans Pacific are required to set aside at least 10% of their after-tax profit each year to fund a statutory reserve until the amount of the reserve reaches 50% of such entity's registered capital.

To the extent Trans Pacific does not generate sufficient after-tax profits to fund this statutory reserve, its ability to pay dividends to us may be limited. Although these statutory reserves can be used, among other ways, to increase the registered capital and eliminate future losses in excess of retained earnings of the respective companies, these reserve funds are not distributable as cash dividends except in the event of a solvent liquidation of the companies. Other than as described in the previous sentences, China's State Administration of Foreign Exchange ("SAFE") has approved the company structure between our company and Trans Pacific, and Trans Pacific is permitted to pay dividends to our company. See "Risk Factor - We may not pay dividends", "Risk Factor - Changes in China's political and economic policies could harm our business" and "Dividend Policy".

Off-Balance Sheet Commitments and Arrangements

We have not entered into any financial guarantees or other commitments to guarantee the payment obligations of any third parties. We have not entered into any derivative contracts that are indexed to our shares and classified as shareholders' equity or that are not reflected in our condensed consolidated financial statements. Furthermore, we do not have any retained or contingent interest in assets transferred to an unconsolidated entity that serve as credit, liquidity or market risk support to such entity. We do not have any variable interest in any unconsolidated entity that provides financing, liquidity, market risk or credit support to us or engages in leasing, hedging or research and development services with us.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2009, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued a statement establishing the FASB Accounting Standards Codification as the source of the authoritative accounting principles recognized by the FASB to be applied by nongovernmental entities in the preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP. Rules and interpretive releases of the SEC under authority of federal securities laws are also sources of authoritative GAAP for SEC registrants. This statement is effective for financial statements issued for interim and annual periods ending after September 15, 2009. On the effective date of this statement, all then existing non-SEC accounting and reporting standards were superseded.

In June 2009, the FASB issued an amendment to its Interpretation, "Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities." The statement requires an entity to perform an analysis to determine whether the entity's variable interest give it a controlling financial interest in a variable interest entity by rationalizing characteristics that would give it power to direct the activities of a variable interest entity and the obligation to absorb losses or the right to receive benefits from the entity that could potentially be significant to the variable interest entity. The statement is effective for years beginning after November 15, 2009 and is not expected to have a material effect on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

On August 26, 2009, the FASB issued Accounting Standard Update (ASU) 2009-05, Measuring Liabilities at Fair Value, to clarify how entities should estimate the fair value of liabilities under the FASB ASC Topic 820, Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures. The amendments in ASU 2009-05 reduce potential ambiguity in financial reporting when measuring the fair value of liabilities. Therefore, preparers, investors, and other users of financial statements will have a better understanding of how the fair value of liabilities was measured, helping to improve consistency in the application of Topic 820. The FASB issued ASU 2009-05 as a result of expressed concern that there may be a lack of observable market information to measure the fair value of a liability. For example, in the hypothetical transfer of an asset subject to a restriction there will be no observable data available to measure the liability because it is restricted from being transferred. This guidance is effective for the first reporting period (including interim periods) beginning after issuance. The adoption of this accounting standard did not have a material effect on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

On Jan. 21, 2010, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2010-06, Improving Disclosures about Fair Value Measurements. The ASU reports on new disclosure requirements — and clarifications of existing requirements — under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Subtopic 820-10 (originally issued as FAS 157). The new disclosure requirements apply to interim and annual reporting periods beginning after Dec. 15, 2009, with one exception: The new rules regarding purchases, sales, issuances and settlements associated with Level 3 measurements will be effective for fiscal years beginning after Dec. 15, 2010, and for interim periods within those fiscal years. The adoption of this accounting standard is not expected to have a material effect on the Company's consolidated financial statements.
