We ended 2018 with over 30% growth in revenue and close to 20% operating margin. We are aware of the uncertainty in the semiconductor market, however we don't see any significant change in the segments in which we operate."

Continued Mr. Amit, "Earlier this week, we announced an investment and important alliance with Chroma, a leading Taiwanese high precision test and measurement equipment corporation. Chroma will enable us to bolster our presence in Asia and especially Taiwan, and will also allow us to expand our addressable markets by leveraging our technological capabilities into new segments."

The financial results and the comparison to 2017 in this press release include only those of the continuing operations. Camtek sold its PCB operations in the third quarter of 2017.
