Stand Alone Basis

Investment in debt securities amounted to PS 4,229 billion (11.1% of total assets) as of June 30, 2007. This decrease was primarily due to a strategic approach towards the increase on inflation and its consequences on the price of fixed income bonds, and is also explained by the level of emerging credit spreads at historical minimums that became a good opportunity for an asset reallocation, from investment securities to loan portfolio. The debt securities portfolio duration was 2.58 years as of June 30, 2007 on an unconsolidated basis.

2.1.3. Asset Quality

Stand Alone Basis

During the second quarter of 2007, the composition of the loans and financial leases classification, changed as the loans classified as B, to total loans, increased to 3.7% from 2.8%, mainly due to a client's classification review that took place in June, more than half of this increase is explained by clients that did not respond to the Bank's periodic information update request. Nevertheless, past due loans accounted for 2.6% of total loans, while the ratio of allowances to past due loans at the end of the quarter was 138.7%

Loans classified as C, D and E comprised 2.5% of total loans as of June 30, 2007. Whereas the ratio of allowances to loans classified as C, D and E at the end of the quarter was 142.7%<sup>4</sup>.
