Item 8.01. Other Events

As previously announced, on October 24, 2013, The New York Times Company (the “Company”) completed the sale of the New England Media Group (“NEMG”), consisting of The Boston Globe, BostonGlobe.com, Boston.com, Worcester Telegram & Gazette, Telegram.com and related properties.

Under generally accepted accounting principles, this transaction meets the criteria for discontinued operations.

Accordingly, the Company is required to reclassify prior period financial information to reflect NEMG as a discontinued operation and include such reclassified prior period financial information in the financial statements to be filed by the Company subsequently on Forms 10-Q and 10-K. The Company is furnishing with this Report the following supplemental unaudited consolidated financial information for each of the 2013 and 2012 quarterly periods noted below and for the full fiscal years 2012 and 2011 reflecting such reclassification of NEMG as a discontinued operation.

CERTAIN NON-GAAP INFORMATION

(Dollars in thousands, except per share data)

Set out in the tables below for the periods indicated are the following non-GAAP financial measures, with reconciliations to the most comparable GAAP measures, in each case reflecting the reclassification of NEMG as a discontinued operation: diluted earnings/(loss) per share from continuing operations excluding severance and special items; operating profit before depreciation, amortization, severance and special items (if any); and operating costs before depreciation, amortization, severance and raw materials. The Company has presented these non-GAAP financial measures because management reviews them on a regular basis and uses them to evaluate and manage the performance of the Company's operations. Management believes that, for the reasons outlined below, these non-GAAP financial measures provide useful information to investors as a supplement to reported diluted earnings/(loss) per share from continuing operations, operating profit and operating costs. However, these measures should be evaluated only in conjunction with the comparable GAAP financial measures and should not be viewed as alternative or superior measures of GAAP results.

Diluted earnings/(loss) per share from continuing operations excluding severance and special items provide useful information in evaluating the Company's period-to-period performance because it eliminates items that the Company does not consider to be indicative of earnings from ongoing operating activities. Operating profit before depreciation, amortization, severance and special items (if any) is useful in evaluating the Company's ongoing performance of its businesses as it excludes the significant non-cash impact of depreciation and amortization as well as items not indicative of ongoing operating activities. Total operating costs include depreciation, amortization, severance and raw materials. Total operating costs excluding these items provide investors with helpful supplemental information on the Company's underlying operating costs that is used by management in its financial and operational decision-making.
