CN expects Q1-2007 diluted EPS to decline five to 10 per cent from year-earlier EPS as a result of severe weather, strike impact and operational disruptions during first-quarter 2007

MONTREAL, March 29, 2007 □ CN announced today it expects first-quarter 2007 diluted earnings per share (EPS) to fall five to 10 per cent below year-earlier diluted EPS of C$0.66 because of severe weather conditions experienced in western Canada throughout the first quarter, a strike in February, and recent landslides in the West that have hampered recovery operations.

E. Hunter Harrison, president and chief executive officer, said: □The first quarter of 2007 has been an extremely challenging one for CN. Severe weather conditions in western Canada in January and February disrupted operations of CN and many of its customers. We then had a 15-day strike by 2,800 members of the United Transportation Union in Canada, followed by another bout of harsh weather, which caused landslides that have interrupted operations of both major railways in British Columbia.

□CN has an exceptional team of railroaders dedicated to recovering delayed traffic on its network. We expect a tough first quarter, but our recovery program is ongoing and we will continue to make every effort to deliver diluted earnings per share growth of 10 per cent-plus for the full-year 2007.□

CN will issue its first-quarter 2007 financial and operating results on April 23, 2007, shortly after 4 p.m. Eastern time (ET). CN's senior officers will review the results and the railway's earnings outlook later that afternoon in a conference call/webcast starting at 4.30 p.m. ET.

Parties interested in participating in, or listening to, the presentation and following question-and-answer period by telephone should dial 1-866-542-4239 or 416-641-6114 by 4.20 p.m. ET April 23.

CN will webcast the presentation live and furnish slides supporting the officers' remarks via the Investors section of its website, www.cn.ca/investors. The slides will be posted shortly after 4 p.m. ET April 23 under Analyst Presentations. CN will archive the webcast and slides on its website until May 14, 2007.

This news release contains forward-looking statements. CN cautions that, by their nature, forward-looking statements involve risk and uncertainties, including the assumption that, while CN expects a moderate slowdown in the North American economy in the near term, its business prospects assume positive economic conditions in North America and globally, and that its results could differ materially from those expressed or implied in such statements. Important factors that could cause such differences include, but are not limited to, industry competition, legislative and/or regulatory developments, compliance with environmental laws and regulations, various events which could disrupt operations, including natural events such as severe weather, droughts, floods and earthquakes, the effects of adverse general economic and business conditions, inflation, currency fluctuations, changes in fuel prices, labour disruptions, environmental claims, investigations or proceedings, other types of claims and litigation, and other risks detailed from time to time in reports filed by CN with securities regulators in Canada and the United States.
