Table of Contents1. SUMMARY

Bancolombia S.A. (BANCOLOMBIA or the Bank) reports consolidated net income of 253.1 billion Colombian pesos (COP) for the quarter ended June 30, 2009 (2Q09) or COP 321.29 per share-U.S. $0.60 per ADR. For the first six months of 2009, (1H09) net income totaled COP 564.2 billion, decreasing 10.3% as compared to the first six months of 2008 (1H08).

During 2Q09, BANCOLOMBIA maintained its strong balance sheet. The Bank reserves for loan losses represented 5.2% of total loans by the end of 2Q09 while coverage, measured by the ratio of allowances for loans and accrued interest losses to past due loans (overdue more than 30 days), increased to 137.3% in 2Q09. On the other hand, past due loans ratio improved, decreasing from 4.0% in 1Q09 to 3.9% by the end of 2Q09.

Driven primarily by corporate lending, BANCOLOMBIA experienced loan growth in COP denominated loans during 2Q09, increasing 5% and 17% as compared to the end of the quarter ended March 31, 2009 (1Q09) and the quarter ended June 30, 2008 (2Q08) respectively. Likewise, deposits continued their positive performance reaching COP 42,888 billion as of June 30, 2009, representing an increase of 24% as compared to 2Q08, while the ratio of net loans to deposits (including borrowings from development banks) remained stable at 92% at the end of 2Q09.

In 2Q09 net interest income decreased 6% as compared to 1Q09 as the Bank experienced margin compression driven by the rapid decrease in interest rates in Colombia; the weighted average of the interest rates for 90 day CDs offered by the Colombian financial system (DTF) fell 259 basis points during the quarter. As a result, the Bank's net interest margins compressed as a significant portion of BANCOLOMBIA's loan portfolio is indexed to DTF.

In addition, the Bank's non-interest income was mixed during 2Q09:

Net fees and income from services continued its positive performance reaching a record COP 379.7 billion for 2Q09, representing an increase of 27.0% as compared to 2Q08.

Other operating income amounted to COP 20 billion, decreasing 89.8% as compared to 2Q08 due to the negative impact in the line item of income from derivative financial instruments caused by a COP 62.9 billion non-recurring charge during 2Q09, related to rule changes concerning valuation methodologies for derivative instruments established by the Colombian regulator. The Bank notes that it finished amortizing the reduction in the carrying value of derivatives in 2Q09. For further information about non-recurring events please see Section 2.1 Effect of non-recurring items in results of this report.

The Bank's results were impacted by high credit cost as net provision charges totaled COP 345.0 billion in 2Q09, an increase of 43% as compared to 2Q08, although stable as compared to the COP 339.9 billion provision charges for 1Q09. In addition, operating expenses totaled COP 681.3 billion, decreasing for the second consecutive quarter (down 5% as compared to 1Q09).

Overall, the annualized return on average shareholders' equity (ROE) for 2Q09 is 16.5% while the ROE for the first six months of 2009 is 18.2%.

Shareholders' equity amounted to COP 6,213 billion by the end of 2Q09 while capital adequacy (tier 1+ 2 capital ratio) finished at 12.94% in 2Q09, up from 12.73% in 1Q09.

Table of Contents2. CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET*2.1. Assets

As of June 30, 2009, BANCOLOMBIA's assets totaled COP 63,267 billion, representing a decrease of 3% as compared to the end of 1Q09 and an increase of 17% as compared to the end of 2Q08. Assets denominated in currencies other than COP (primarily U.S. dollars) represented 27% of total assets (or U.S. 7.9 billion) by the end of 2Q09. The 16% appreciation of the COP against the U.S. dollar during 2Q09 affected the COP conversion of assets denominated in currencies other than COP and accounted for the 3% decrease in the Bank's assets at the end of 2Q09. Asset structure remained stable during 2Q09: net loans and financial leases accounted for 67.0% of assets, representing no change as compared to the previous quarter, while net investments securities decreased to 11.9% from 12.7%, and cash and equivalents increased to 10.7% from 10.0% as compared to 1Q09.

2.1.1 Loan Portfolio

As of June 30, 2009, BANCOLOMBIA's gross loans totaled COP 44,714 billion, decreasing 2% as compared to 1Q09 and increasing 14% as compared to 2Q08. As of June 30, 2009 U.S. dollar denominated loans represented 25% of the loan portfolio; therefore, COP appreciation also had a significant impact on the COP conversion of the U.S. dollar denominated loans.

During 2Q09, BANCOLOMBIA maintained a strong balance sheet through the adequate coverage of its loan portfolio. For further explanation regarding coverage of the loan portfolio, please see Section 3 Asset Quality & Balance Sheet Strength of this report.

Overall, BANCOLOMBIA maintained its position as leader in the Colombian and Salvadorian markets in 2Q09. According to ASOBANCARIA (Colombia's national banking association), BANCOLOMBIA's gross loans market share of the Colombian financial system as of June 2009 was 21.8%, favorably compared to the 21.2% market share the firm had by the end of 2Q08. Likewise, according to ABANSA (El Salvador's national banking association), Banco Agrícola, Bancolombia's subsidiary in El Salvador, had a market share of 30.2% of Salvadorian gross loans as of June 30, 2009, increasing significantly from the 28.5% market share at the end of 2Q08.

Peso denominated lending activity and loan portfolio

Last quarter was a dynamic period for lending activity for COP denominated loans which account for 75% of total loans, representing an increase of 5% and 17% as compared to the figures presented at the end of 1Q9 and 2Q08, respectively. Loan growth was driven by commercial loans which increased 9% during 2Q09, and was slightly off-set by consumer loans which decreased 2% during 2Q09. Loan growth in 2Q09 was driven to a large extent by loans in the oil & gas sector, infrastructure development, commercial electricity generation and telecommunications.

Mortgage loans presented no significant growth in 2Q09 and increased 0.4% when accounting for securitized mortgage loans (BANCOLOMBIA securitized COP 259.9 billion of mortgage loans in the local market in 2Q09). However, mortgage applications increased as a result of the Colombian government's housing subsidy program that was implemented in April 09 and also by lower long-term interest rates in Colombia. The housing subsidy consists of interest rate relief (paid by the Colombian Government directly to mortgage lenders) ranging from 3 to 5 percentage points deducted from the total interest rate (depending on the size of the mortgage). The housing subsidy is only applicable for the purchase of new houses, has a time frame of 7 years from disbursement and is not cumulative with other housing subsidies.

Table of ContentsU.S. dollar denominated lending activity

U.S. dollar denominated lending remained weak, reflecting a lower demand for credit in the Bank's off-shore subsidiaries (explained by lower international trade flows from our clients) and a lower economic environment in El Salvador. Net.net, loans amounted to U.S. $5.2 billion by the end of 2Q09, decreasing 5.1% as compared to 2Q08.

The following table summarizes BANCOLOMBIA'S total loan portfolio:

2.1.2. Investment Portfolio

As of June 30, 2009, BANCOLOMBIA's net investment securities amounted to COP. 7,549 billion, representing a 9% decrease as compared to the end of 1Q09, and an increase of 22% as compared to the figures at the end of 2Q09. Net investment securities are primarily investments in debt securities, which represented 98% of BANCOLOMBIA's net investment securities portfolio at the end of 2Q09 and 11.6% of total assets, down from 12.4% of assets represented at the end of 1Q09.

Table of Contents2.2. Funding

As of June 30, 2009, BANCOLOMBIA's liabilities reached COP 57,054 billion, decreasing 3% as compared to 1Q09 and increasing 16% as compared to 2Q08.

As a result of an expansionist monetary policy, the Colombian monetary market's liquidity has remained adequate allowing the local capital markets to function properly. In fact, local bond issuances activity continued to be dynamic during 2Q09. During the first half of 2009 new corporate bonds issued in the local market accounted for COP 5.8 trillion, an amount approximately three times greater than that corresponding to bonds issued in the local market during 1H08.

Regardless of the type of currency, the Bank has maintained a solid liquidity position. In particular, the Bank continued to experience deposit growth in 2Q09, with deposits totaling COP 42,888 billion, an increase of COP 8,350 billion, or 24% as compared to 2Q08. COP denominated deposits, 71% of BANCOLOMBIA's total deposits, increased 1% and 22% as compared to 1Q09 and 2Q08 respectively. During the last year, the Bank increased its market share of deposits within Colombia's banking system from 18.5% in June 2008 to 19.7% in June 2009. In El Salvador, through its subsidiary Banco Agricola, the Bank increased its market share of deposits from 29.8% in June 2008 to 31.1% in June 2009.

With regard to the funding mix, non-interest bearing deposits decreased 1% over 2Q09 reaching COP 5,008 billion. On a yearly basis, non-interest bearing deposits increased 5% from the figure presented at the end of 2Q08. On the other hand, interest bearing deposits decreased 1% during 2Q09 as compared to 1Q09. Overall, time deposits slightly decreased their relative size in the funding mix to 50% from 51% in 1Q09, while demand deposits increased to 49% from 48% at the end of 1Q09.

U.S. dollar denominated deposits continued to grow, increasing 10% in 2Q09 as compared to 1Q09 (measured in U.S. dollars), as the Bank's off-shore banking franchises continue to benefit from underlying growth, particularly from increasing client fund inflows and deposit growth in El Salvador. As a result of the solid performance of U.S. dollar denominated deposits, U.S. dollar interbank borrowings decreased 39% in 2Q09 as compared to 1Q09, while U.S. dollar denominated borrowing from domestic development banks decreased 43% in the same period.

Overall, as a result of the growth of deposits, the Bank's liabilities structure has changed in the last year. As of June 30, 2009, deposits represented 75% of total liabilities, up from 70% at the end of 2Q08, while the ratio of net loans to deposits (including borrowings from development banks) remained stable at 92% at the end of 2Q09. On the other hand, liabilities in the form of bonds or notes amounted to COP 3,894 billion, a decrease of 2% as compared to 1Q09 while borrowing from domestic development banks and interbank borrowings line items decreased 11%.

Table of Contents3. INCOME STATEMENT

BANCOLOMBIA reported net income of COP 253.1 billion for the quarter ended June 30, 2009 (COP 321.29 per share or U.S. $0.60 per ADR) representing a decrease of 19% as compared to 1Q09 and a decrease of 33% as compared to 2Q08. The results are primarily explained by lower revenues (lower other operating income and net interest income, though slightly off-set by the good performance of fees) and provisions charges that remained high during 2Q09. On the positive side, operating expenses decreased 5% in 2Q09 as compared to 1Q09 and the Bank finished amortizing the reduction in the carrying value of derivatives during 2Q09, relating to rule changes concerning valuation methodologies for derivative instruments established by the Colombian regulator.

For the 1H09, net income totaled COP 564.2 billion, decreasing 10.3% as compared to the 1H08.

ROE for 2Q09 is 16.5% while the ROE for the first six months of 2009 is 18.2%.

3.1. Effect of non-recurring items in results

The Bank's results in 2Q09 and 2Q08 presented significant non-recurring items that affect the comparison basis between periods. The following is a summary of the most representative non-recurring events.

Other operating income line item was impacted by:

A positive non-recurring impact in the line item of sales of equity securities in 2Q08, as the Bank recorded gains on sales of investment securities of COP 37.1 billion related to the sale of its interest in Multienlace S.A.

A negative impact on the line item of income from derivative financial instruments in 2Q09 by a COP 62.9 billion charge related to rule changes concerning valuation methodologies for derivative instruments established by the Colombian regulator. As previously noted, the Bank finished amortizing the reductions related to such regulatory changes in 2Q09.

In 2Q08, the Bank recorded non operating income of COP 26.1 billion related to the compensation received in connection with the membership rights recognized by Visa International Service Association (Visa International) as a result of the initial public offering of VISA Inc.

3.2. Net Interest Income

During 2Q09, interest on loans reached COP 1,306 billion, decreasing 6% as compared to 1Q09, due to lower interest rates in the loan portfolio as a result of the decreasing interest rates environment in Colombia. During the last few months, the Colombian Central Bank has continued its expansionist monetary cycle in an effort to support economic activity in the current economic slowdown and due to a more favorable inflationary outlook for 2009. Specifically, the Colombian Central Bank's overnight lending decreased 550 basis points since December 2008, of which 250 basis points were cut in 2Q09. By the end of 2Q09 the Colombian Central Bank's overnight lending rate was 4.5%. The DTF has followed suit, falling 259 basis points during 2Q09 and reaching 5.54% in the week of June 29, 2009. Such a decrease in rates impacts a significant portion of BANCOLOMBIA's loan portfolio that is indexed to DTF. On a yearly basis, interest on loans increased COP 131.8 billion in 2Q09, or 11.2% as compared to COP 1,174 billion recorded in 2Q08.

Table of Contents

Interest on financial leases reached COP 191.7 billion, decreasing 10.5% as compared to 1Q09 and increasing 1.6% as compared to 2Q08.

Interest on investment securities amounted to COP 137.7 billion, decreasing 10.6% in 2Q09 as compared to 1Q09 and increasing 1.6% as compared to 2Q08, driven by a more stable performance in the valuation of bonds in Colombia and a smaller average debt securities portfolio held during 2Q09.

Overall, total interest income was COP 1,653 billion during 2Q09, decreasing 8% as compared to 1Q09, while interest expense was COP 726.4 billion, decreasing 10% as compared to the previous quarter. Consequently, net interest income for 2Q09 totaled COP. 926.4 billion, decreasing 6% as compared to the previous quarter but 8% higher than net interest income for 2Q08. As a result of decreasing interest rates and their net effect in the net interest income, net interest margin was 6.7% for 2Q09, down from the 7.1% for 1Q09.

3.3. Fees and Income from Services

During 2Q09 net fees and income from services continued to perform well totaling COP 379.7 billion, which represents an increase of 3.5% as compared to 1Q09 and 27.0% as compared to 2Q08. Net fees and income from services were driven primarily by the solid performance of credit and debit card annual fees, fiduciary activities, commission from banking and other services and collection and payments fees.

In particular, credit and debit card annual fees were COP 137.3 billion, up 27% from 2Q08. Fees related to fiduciary activities outperformed its solid 1Q09 results reaching COP 42.7 billion, up 10% as compared to 1Q09, and almost doubling the results for 2Q08 (an increase of 93%). Commissions from banking services and other services were COP 69.0 billion, up 21% as compared with 2Q08. Collections and payments fees were COP 45.9 billion, increasing 19% as compared to 2Q08. Branch network services were COP 26.8 billion, up 7% from 2Q08. Pension plan administration fees were COP 25.3 billion, up 32% as compared to 2Q08. The remaining fee categories: checking, electronic services and ATM, international operations, brokerage, credit card merchant, check remittances fees had aggregated revenue of COP 69.5 billion, decreasing 9% as compared to 2Q08.

Fees and other service related expenses totaled COP 36.8 billion in 2Q09, increasing 9.2% as compared to 1Q09. On a yearly basis, fees and other service expenses decreased COP 10.7 billion, or 22.6% as compared to 2Q08.

3.4. Other Operating Income

Total other operating income totaled COP 20.0 billion for 2Q09, decreasing 84.2% as compared to 1Q09 and 89.8% as compared to 2Q08. As explained, the other operating income line item was substantially affected by non-recurring events in 2Q09 and 2Q08, thereby affecting the comparison basis between periods. Please refer to Section 2.1. Effect of non-recurring items in results of this report for an explanation of these events.

The combined revenue related to net foreign exchange gains and derivative financial instruments totaled a negative COP 60.2 billion in 2Q09, decreasing COP 79.4 billion as compared to 1Q09 and COP 136.8 billion as compared to 2Q08. In particular, this combined revenue was impacted by the adoption during the second half of 2008 of certain rule changes concerning valuation methodologies for derivative instruments. These changes in valuation methodologies of derivatives were required by external circulars 025, 030, 044 and 063 issued by the Colombian Superintendency of Finance and resulted in a reduction in the carrying value of derivatives which negatively impacted the income from derivative financial instruments in COP 62.9 billion during 2Q09.

Communication, postage, rent and others (primarily comprising income related to operating leases and commercial discounts) totaled COP 38.4 billion in 2Q09, representing an increase of 44% as compared to 2Q08. Dividend income, primarily obtained from investments in non-subsidiaries totaled COP 4.2 billion, decreasing from COP 16.6 billion in 2Q08.

The remaining other operating income categories (i.e. gains(losses) on sales of investments on equity securities, securitization income, revenues from commercial subsidiaries and insurance income) had an aggregated revenue of COP 37.6 billion, decreasing COP 16.5 billion, or 31% as compared to 1Q09 due to lower insurance income during 2Q09. On a yearly basis, the remaining other operating income categories decreased COP 39.0 billion, or 51% as compared to 2Q08 due to the lower gains on sales of equity securities as in 2Q08 there was a positive non-recurring impact in such line item in connection with the Bank's recorded gains on sales of investment securities of COP 37.2 billion related to the sale of interest in Multienlace S.A.

3.5. Provision charges

Provision charges totaled COP 345.0 billion in 2Q09, a 1.5% increase as compared to COP 339.9 billion for 1Q09. On a relative basis, annualized provision charges for 2Q09 represented 3.1% of average loans, a slight increase from 3.0% in 1Q09.

For an explanation of the trends driving the current level of provisions charges, please see Section 4 Asset Quality & Balance Sheet Strength of this report.

3.6. Operating expenses

During 2Q09, operating expenses totaled COP 681.3 billion, decreasing 5% as compared to 1Q09, but increasing 12% as compared to the figures for 2Q08.

Table of Contents

Administrative and other expenses decreased for the second consecutive quarter, totaling COP 333.7 billion in 2Q09, which represents a decrease of COP 32.5 billion, or 9%, as compared to 1Q09. On a yearly basis, administrative and other expenses increased 14% as compared to 2Q08 driven by increased fees paid in connection with software development and IT upgrades the Bank is currently undertaking.

Personnel expenses (the sum of salaries and employee benefits, bonus plan payments and compensation) totaled COP 282.3 billion in 2Q09, decreasing 1% as compared to 1Q09 and increasing 4% as compared to 2Q08. Such performance has been primarily driven by lower bonus plan payments related to BANCOLOMBIA's variable compensation program in which compensation is determined taking into account the economic value added by the firm.

Depreciation expense totaled COP 45.6 billion in 2Q09, up 47% as compared to 2Q08, driven by the growth in the depreciation of assets that are part of the operating lease business of BANCOLOMBIA. In particular, COP 15.8 billion or 33% of the quarter's depreciation expense is associated with operating lease assets.

Despite decreasing expenses, efficiency, measured as the ratio of operating expenses to net operating income, experienced some deterioration as this ratio increased to 52.7% from 49.8% the previous quarter. Such deterioration is explained by the impact of lower revenues during 2Q09. However, operating expenses for the quarter ended June 30, 2009 represented 4.4% of total assets, a smaller proportion than the 4.6% as of the end of 2Q08.

4. Asset Quality and Balance Sheet Strength

As of June 30, 2009 past due loans (PDLs), those overdue more than 30 days, amounted to COP. 1,737.1 billion, or 3.88%, of total loans decreasing from COP 1,829.9 billion, or 3.99% of total loans, in 1Q09. The lower level of PDLs as a percentage of total loans is explained primarily by higher charge-offs during 2Q09, although a milder increase in past due loans (before charge-offs) is also responsible for the improvement of such quality indicator. Net loans charge-offs during 2Q09 totaled COP 330.7 billion, representing an increase as compared to COP 182.8 billion in charge-offs during 1Q09. However, the pace of deterioration slowed during 2Q09 as compared to 1Q09; the increase of past due loans before charge-offs for 2Q09 was COP 237.9 billion, down COP 150.9 billion or 39% as compared to COP 388.7 billion presented for 1Q09.

During 2Q09, BANCOLOMBIA maintained a strong balance sheet in terms of loan loss reserves. Allowances for loan losses totaled COP 2,330 billion, or 5.2% of total loans, which is higher than the 5.1% of total loans as of March 30, 2009, while coverage, measured by the ratio of allowances for loans and accrued interest losses to PDLs reached 137.3% at the end of 2Q09, increasing from 131.7% in 1Q09 and 120.1% in 2Q08.
