DIEBOLD, INCORPORATED AND SUBSIDIARIES
FORM 10-Q as of June 30, 2010
NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)
(dollars in thousands, except per share amounts)

NOTE 1: CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of Diebold, Incorporated and its subsidiaries (collectively, the Company) have been prepared in accordance with the instructions to Form 10-Q and therefore do not include all information and footnotes necessary for a fair presentation of financial position, results of operations and cash flows in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP); however, such information reflects all adjustments (consisting solely of normal recurring adjustments), which are, in the opinion of management, necessary for a fair statement of the results for the interim periods.

The condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes contained in the Company s annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009. In addition, some of the Company s statements in this quarterly report on Form 10-Q may involve risks and uncertainties that could significantly impact expected future results. The results of operations for the three and six months ended June 30, 2010 are not necessarily indicative of results to be expected for the full year.

The Company has reclassified the presentation of certain prior-year information to conform to the current presentation. As discussed in Note 15, effective in the first quarter of 2010, the Company began management of its businesses on a geographic basis, changing from the previous model of sales channel segments. In order to align the Company s external reporting of its financial results with this organizational change, the Company has modified its segment reporting and has reclassified prior period segment information to conform to the current period presentation of its segment information.

The Company s Venezuelan operations consist of a fifty-percent owned subsidiary, which is consolidated. On January 8, 2010, the Venezuelan government announced the devaluation of its currency, the bolivar, and the establishment of a two-tier exchange structure. Subsequently, during May 2010, the Venezuelan government seized control of the parallel market, thereby creating a new government-controlled rate. Transitioning from the parallel rate to the new government-controlled rate did not have a material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements. The impact was a decrease of $500 and $7,000 to the Company s cash balance during the three and six months ended June 30, 2010, respectively. Net losses resulting from the remeasurement of the Venezuelan financial statements were recorded in the condensed consolidated statement of income for approximately $0.04 per share for the six months ended June 30, 2010. In the future, if the Company converts bolivares at a rate other than the new government-controlled rate, the Company may realize gains or losses that would be recorded in the statement of income.

The Company s significant accounting policies as reported in the Company s annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009 were amended in the first quarter of 2010 upon the adoption of Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2009-13, Multiple-Deliverable Revenue Arrangements (ASU 2009-13), and FASB ASU 2009-14, Certain Arrangements That Include Software Elements (ASU 2009-14). On January 1, 2010, the Company elected to early adopt ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 and there was no material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements. However, the adoption of ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 modifies the Company s previously disclosed revenue recognition policy, which is presented below as revised. ASU 2009-14 amends software revenue recognition guidance in FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 985-605 Software Revenue Recognition (ASC 985-605) to exclude from its scope the Company s tangible products that contain both software and non-software components that function together to deliver a product s essential functionality. ASU 2009-13 modifies the requirements that must be met for the Company to recognize revenue from the sale of a delivered item that is part of a multiple-deliverable arrangement when other items have not yet been delivered. ASU 2009-13 establishes a selling price hierarchy for determining the selling price of a deliverable in a multiple-deliverable arrangement. The selling price must be based on vendor specific objective evidence (VSOE), if available, or third-party evidence (TPE) if VSOE is not available, or estimated selling price if neither VSOE nor TPE is available. Also, the residual method of allocating arrangement consideration has been eliminated. ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 were applied on a prospective basis for revenue arrangements entered into or materially modified after adoption. There were no changes to the Company s units of accounting within its multiple-deliverable arrangements, how the Company allocates arrangement consideration or in the pattern or timing of revenue recognition as a result of the adoption of these updates.

Revenue Recognition The Company s revenue recognition policy is consistent with the requirements of FASB ASC 605, Revenue Recognition (ASC 605). In general, the Company records revenue when it is realized, or realizable and earned. The Company considers revenue to be realized, or realizable and earned, when the following revenue recognition requirements are met: persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, which is a customer contract; the products or services have been approved by the customer via delivery or installation acceptance; the sales price is fixed or determinable within the contract; and collectability is probable.

For product sales, the Company determines that the earnings process is complete when title, risk of loss and the right to use equipment has transferred to the customer. Within the North America business segment, this occurs upon customer acceptance. Where the Company is contractually responsible for installation, customer acceptance occurs upon completion of the installation of all items at a job site and the Company s demonstration that the items are in operable condition. Where the Company is not contractually responsible for installation, revenue recognition of these items is upon shipment or delivery to a customer location depending on the terms in the contract. Within the international business segment, customer acceptance is upon the earlier of delivery or completion of the installation depending on the terms in the contract with the customer. The Company has the following revenue streams related to sales to its customers:

Financial Self-Service Product & Integrated Services Revenue Financial self-service products pertain to automated teller machines (ATMs). Included with the ATM is a software component and a non-software component that function together to deliver the ATM s essential functionality. The Company also provides service contracts on ATMs. Service contracts typically cover a 12-month period and can begin at any given month after the warranty period expires. The service provided under warranty is limited as compared to those offered under service contracts. Further, warranty is not considered a separate deliverable of the sale. The Company s warranty covers only replacement of defective parts inclusive of labor. Service contracts are tailored to meet the individual needs of each customer. Service contracts provide additional services beyond those covered under the warranty, and usually include preventative maintenance service, cleaning, supplies stocking and cash handling, all of which are not essential to the functionality of the equipment. Outsourced and managed services include remote monitoring, trouble-shooting for self-service customers, training, transaction processing, currency management, maintenance services and full support via person to person or online communication.

Revenue is recognized in accordance with ASC 605, the application of which requires judgment including the determination of whether an arrangement includes multiple deliverables. For stand-alone sales of service contracts, revenue is recognized ratably over the life of the contract period. In contracts that involve multiple-deliverable arrangements, product maintenance services are typically accounted for under FASB ASC 605-20, Separately Priced Extended Warranty and Product Maintenance Contracts (ASC 605-20). Amounts deferred for undelivered deliverables are determined based upon the selling price of the deliverables as prescribed in FASB ASC 605-25, Revenue Recognition Multiple-Element Arrangements (ASC 605-25). The Company determines the selling price of deliverables within a multiple-deliverable arrangement based on VSOE (price when sold on stand-alone basis) or the estimated selling price where VSOE is not established for undelivered deliverables. Total arrangement consideration is allocated at the inception of the arrangement to all deliverables using the relative selling price method, which allocates any discount in the arrangement proportionately to each deliverable on the basis of each deliverable s selling price. There have been no material changes to these estimates for the periods presented and the Company believes that these estimates generally should not be subject to significant changes in the future. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish the selling price could materially impact the amount of earned or deferred revenue.

Electronic Security Products & Integrated Services Revenue The Company provides global product sales, service, installation, project management and monitoring of original equipment manufacturer (OEM) electronic security products to financial, government, retail and commercial customers. These solutions provide the Company s customers a single-source solution to their electronic security needs. Revenue is recognized in accordance with ASC 605. Revenue on sales of the products described above is recognized upon shipment, installation or customer acceptance of the product as defined in the customer contract. In contracts that involve multiple deliverables, product maintenance services are typically accounted for under ASC 605-20. Amounts deferred for undelivered deliverables are based upon the selling price of the deliverables as prescribed in ASC 605-25. The Company determines the selling price of deliverables within a multiple-deliverable arrangement based on the price charged when each deliverable is sold separately or estimated selling price. Total arrangement consideration is allocated at the inception of the arrangement to all deliverables using the relative selling price method, which allocates any discount in the arrangement proportionately to each deliverable on the basis of each deliverable s selling price. There have been no material changes to these estimates for the periods presented and the Company believes that these estimates generally should not be subject to significant changes in the future. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish the selling price could materially impact the amount of earned or deferred revenue.

Physical Security & Facility Revenue The Company designs and manufactures several of its physical security and facility products. These consist of vaults, safe deposit boxes and safes, drive-up banking equipment and a host of other banking facilities products. Revenue on sales of the products described above is recognized when the revenue recognition requirements of ASC 605 have been met.

Election and Lottery Systems Revenue The Company offers election and lottery systems product solutions and support to the government in Brazil. Election systems revenue consists of election equipment, networking, tabulation and diagnostic software development, training, support and maintenance. Lottery systems revenue consists of lottery equipment. The election and lottery equipment components are included in product revenue. The software development, training, support and maintenance components are included in service revenue. The election and lottery systems contracts can contain multiple deliverables and custom terms and conditions. For contracts that do not contain multiple deliverables, revenue is recognized upon customer acceptance. In contracts that involve multiple deliverables, amounts deferred for undelivered deliverables are based upon the selling price of the deliverables as prescribed in ASC 605-25. The Company determines the selling price of deliverables within a multiple-deliverable arrangement based on the estimated selling price. Total arrangement consideration is allocated at the inception of the arrangement to all deliverables using the relative selling price method, which allocates any discount in the arrangement proportionately to each deliverable on the basis of each deliverable s selling price. There have been no material changes to these estimates for the periods presented and the Company believes that these estimates generally should not be subject to significant changes in the future. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish the selling price could materially impact the amount of earned or deferred revenue.

Software Solutions & Service Revenue The Company offers software solutions consisting of multiple applications that process events and transactions (networking software) along with the related server. Sales of networking software represent software solutions to customers that allow them to network various different vendors ATMs onto one network and revenue is recognized in accordance with ASC 985-605. Included within service revenue is revenue from software support agreements, which are typically 12 months in duration and pertain to networking software. For stand-alone sales of software support, revenue is recognized ratably over the life of the contract period. In contracts that involve multiple deliverables, amounts deferred for support are based upon VSOE of the value of the deliverables as prescribed in ASC 985-605, which requires judgment about whether the deliverables can be divided into more than one unit of accounting and whether the separate units of accounting have value to the customer on a stand-alone basis. There have been no material changes to these deliverables for the periods presented. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish VSOE could affect the timing of revenue recognition.

Recently Adopted Accounting Guidance

In May 2010, the FASB issued ASU 2010-19, Foreign Currency Issues: Multiple Foreign Currency Exchange Rates (ASU 2010-19). ASU 2010-19 is effective as of the announcement date of March 18, 2010. ASU 2010-19 provides the SEC staff s views on certain foreign currency issues related to investments in Venezuela. These issues relate to Venezuela s highly inflationary status. The adoption of the provisions of ASU 2010-19 did not have a material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements.

On January 1, 2010, the Company adopted ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 as noted above.

On January 1, 2010, the Company adopted FASB ASU 2010-06, Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures (ASU 2010-06). ASU 2010-06 updates FASB ASC 820, Fair Value Measurements. ASU 2010-06 requires additional disclosures about fair value measurements including transfers in and out of levels 1 and 2 and a higher level of disaggregation for the different types of financial instruments. On January 1, 2010, the Company early adopted ASU 2010-06 related to the reconciliation of level 3 fair value measurements, requiring information about purchases, sales, issuances and settlements to be presented separately. There was no material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements related to the adoption of this guidance.

On January 1, 2010, the Company adopted updated guidance included in FASB ASC 860-10, Transfers and Servicing Overall. This guidance requires additional disclosures about the transfer and de-recognition of financial assets and eliminates the concept of qualifying special-purpose entities. The adoption of this guidance did not have an impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements.

On January 1, 2010, the Company adopted updated guidance included in FASB ASC 810, Consolidation (ASC 810), related to the consolidation of variable interest entities. This guidance requires ongoing reassessments of whether an enterprise is the primary beneficiary of a variable interest entity. In addition, this updated guidance amends the quantitative approach for determining the primary beneficiary of a variable interest entity. ASC 810 amends certain guidance for determining whether an entity is a variable

NOTE 12: DERIVATIVE INSTRUMENTS AND HEDGING ACTIVITIES

The Company uses derivatives to mitigate the negative economic consequences associated with the fluctuations in currencies and interest rates. The Company records all derivative instruments on the balance sheet at fair value and the changes in the fair value are recognized in earnings unless specific hedge accounting criteria are met. Special accounting for qualifying hedges allows derivative gains and losses to be reflected in the statement of income or other comprehensive income together with the hedged exposure, and requires that the Company formally document, designate and assess the effectiveness of transactions that receive hedge accounting treatment. Gains or losses associated with ineffectiveness must be reported currently in earnings. The Company does not enter into any speculative positions with regard to derivative instruments.

The Company periodically evaluates its monetary asset and liability positions denominated in foreign currencies. The impact of the Company and the counterparties credit risk on the fair value of the contracts is considered as well as the ability of each party to execute its obligations under the contract. The Company uses investment grade financial counterparties in these transactions and believes that the resulting credit risk under these hedging strategies is not significant.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Non-Designated Hedges A substantial portion of the Company s operations and revenues are international. As a result, changes in foreign exchange rates can create substantial foreign exchange gains and losses from the revaluation of non-functional currency monetary assets and liabilities. The Company s policy allows the use of foreign exchange forward contracts with maturities of up to 24 months to mitigate the impact of currency fluctuations on those foreign currency asset and liability balances. The Company elected not to apply hedge accounting to its foreign exchange forward contracts. Thus, spot-based gains/losses offset revaluation gains/losses within foreign exchange loss, net and forward-based gains/losses represent interest expense. For the three and six months ended June 30, 2010, there were 201 and 407 non-designated foreign exchange contracts that settled. As of June 30, 2010, there were 59 non-designated foreign exchange contracts outstanding, primarily euro, British pound, Hungarian forint and Swiss franc, totaling $523,030, which represents the absolute value of notional amounts.

Net Investment Hedges The Company has international subsidiaries with assets in excess of liabilities that generate cumulative translation adjustments within other comprehensive income. During 2009, the Company used derivatives to manage potential adverse changes in value of its net investments in Brazil. The Company used the forward to forward method for its quarterly retrospective and prospective assessments of hedge effectiveness. No ineffectiveness results if the notional amount of the derivative matches the portion of the net investment designated as being hedged because the Company uses derivative instruments with underlying exchange rates consistent with its functional currency and the functional currency of the hedged net investment. Changes in value that are deemed effective are accumulated in other comprehensive income where they will remain until they are reclassified to income together with the gain or loss on the entire investment upon substantial liquidation of the subsidiary.

INTEREST RATE

Cash Flow Hedges The Company has variable rate debt and is subject to fluctuations in interest related cash flows due to changes in market interest rates. The Company s policy allows derivative instruments designated as cash flow hedges which fix a portion of future variable-rate interest expense. The Company has executed two pay-fixed receive-variable interest rate swaps, with a total notional amount of $50,000, to hedge against changes in the LIBOR benchmark interest rate on a portion of the Company s LIBOR-based borrowings. In October 2009, the Company used borrowings of approximately $205,000 and 50,300 under its new credit facility to repay all amounts outstanding under (and terminated) the prior credit facility. While the LIBOR-based cash flows designated in the original hedge relationships remain probable of occurring, the Company elected to de-designate the original cash flow hedging relationships and designated new hedging relationships in conjunction with entering into its new credit facility.

The Company s monthly retrospective assessment of hedge effectiveness to determine whether the hedging relationship continues to qualify for hedge accounting is performed using regression analysis. The Company s monthly prospective assessment of hedge effectiveness to measure the extent to which exact offset is not achieved is performed by comparing the cumulative change in the fair value of the interest rate swaps to the cumulative change in the fair value of the hypothetical interest rate swaps with critical terms that match the LIBOR-based borrowings. When computing cumulative changes in fair values, the Company computes the difference between the current fair value and the sum of all future discounted cash flows projected at designation that are not yet paid or accrued as of the current valuation date in order to isolate changes in fair value primarily attributable to changes in interest rates. Changes in value that are deemed effective are accumulated in other comprehensive income and reclassified to interest expense when the hedged interest is accrued. For the three and six months ended June 30, 2010, the Company recognized losses of $73 and $79 representing the change in fair value of the interest rate swap that was deemed ineffective. To the extent that it becomes probable that the Company s variable rate borrowings will not occur, the gains or losses on the related cash flow hedges will be reclassified from other comprehensive income to interest expense.

In December 2005 and January 2006, the Company executed cash flow hedges by entering into receive-variable and pay-fixed interest rate swaps, with a total notional amount of $200,000, related to the senior notes issuance in March 2006. Amounts previously recorded in other comprehensive income related to the pre-issuance cash flow hedges will continue to be reclassified to income on a straight-line basis through February 2016.

Restructuring charges of $1,930 and $3,467 for the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively, related to reductions in the Company s global workforce, including realignment of the organization and resources to better support opportunities in emerging growth markets and consolidation of certain international facilities in efforts to optimize overall operational performance. In December 2009, the Company began to implement a workforce reduction of 350 employees, which primarily affects its Canton, Ohio area facilities. As of June 30, 2010, the Company expects to complete this workforce reduction no later than the end of 2010.

Restructuring charges of $356 and $2,194 for the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively, related to the Company s strategic global manufacturing realignment plans. Restructuring accrual adjustment benefits in 2010 were primarily the result of a pension obligation which was settled in the first quarter of 2010 (refer to note 10). The Company s global manufacturing realignment plans include the closure of its manufacturing facilities in Newark, Ohio and Cassis, France in 2008 and 2006, respectively. The Company believes the closure of the Newark and Cassis facilities is substantially complete. The global manufacturing realignment plans also include the movement of Opteva product manufacturing out of Lexington, North Carolina into other facilities. The Company believes the move is substantially complete as of June 30, 2010. Security manufacturing operations continue in the Lexington facility.

Other restructuring charges were $24 and $2,795 for the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The 2009 costs were primarily related to employee severance costs in connection with the Company s sale of certain assets and liabilities in Argentina.

Other Charges and Expense Reimbursements

Other charges and expense reimbursements consist of items that the Company determines are non-routine in nature and are not expected to recur in future operations. Net non-routine income of $4,130 impacted the six months ended June 30, 2010 compared to net non-routine expenses of $15,005 in the same period of 2009. Net non-routine income for 2010 consisted primarily of reimbursements from the Company s director and officer (D&O) insurance carriers related to legal and other expenses incurred as part of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and Department of Justice (DOJ) investigations (government investigations) and was recorded in selling and administrative expense. The Company continues to pursue reimbursement with its D&O insurance carriers of approximately $6,900 of previously incurred legal and other expenditures related to the government investigations. In June 2010, the SEC finalized the settlement of civil charges stemming from the government investigations. The Company had previously reached an agreement in principle in 2009 with the staff of the SEC and the Company accrued a $25,000 penalty in the first quarter of 2009, which was paid in June 2010. Net non-routine expenses in 2009, consisted of $1,328 in legal and other consultation fees recorded in selling and administrative expense related to the government investigations and a $25,000 charge, recorded in miscellaneous, net, related to the 2009 agreement in principle with the staff of the SEC to settle civil charges. In addition, in 2009 selling and administrative expense was offset by $11,323 of non-routine income, primarily related to reimbursements from the Company s D&O insurance carriers related to legal and other expenses incurred as part of the government investigations.

NOTE 14: FAIR VALUE OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

The Company measures its financial assets and liabilities using one or more of the following three valuation techniques:

Market approach Prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable assets or liabilities.

Cost approach Amount that would be required to replace the service capacity of an asset (replacement cost).

Income approach Techniques to convert future amounts to a single present amount based upon market expectations.

The hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value is divided into three levels:

Level 1 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for similar assets or liabilities, unadjusted quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active or inputs, other than quoted prices in active markets, that are observable either directly or indirectly.

Level 3 Unobservable inputs for which there is little or no market data.

Short-Term Investments The Company has investments in certificates of deposit and U.S. dollar indexed bond funds that are classified as available-for-sale and stated at fair value. U.S. dollar indexed bond funds are reported at net asset value, which is the practical expedient for fair value as determined by banks where funds are held.

Assets Held in a Rabbi Trust The fair value of the assets held in a rabbi trust (refer to note 6) is derived from investments in a mix of money market, fixed income and equity funds managed by Vanguard.

Foreign Exchange Forward Contracts A substantial portion of the Company s operations and revenues are international. As a result, changes in foreign exchange rates can create substantial foreign exchange gains and losses from the revaluation of non-functional currency monetary assets and liabilities. The foreign exchange contracts are valued using the market approach based on observable market transactions of forward rates.

Interest Rate Swaps The Company has variable rate debt and is subject to fluctuations in interest related cash flows due to changes in market interest rates. The Company s policy allows it to periodically enter into derivative instruments designated as cash flow hedges to fix some portion of future variable rate based interest expense. The Company has executed two pay-fixed receive-variable interest rate swaps to hedge against changes in the LIBOR benchmark interest rate on a portion of the Company s LIBOR- based borrowings. The fair value of the swap is determined using the income approach and is calculated based on LIBOR rates at the reporting date.

Contingent Consideration on Sale of Business The Company s September 2009 sale of its U.S. elections systems business included contingent consideration related to 70 percent of any cash collected over a five-year period on the accounts receivable balance of the sold business as of August 31, 2009. The fair value of the contingent consideration was determined based on recent collections on the accounts receivable as well as the probability of future anticipated collections (level 3 inputs) and was recorded at the net present value of the future anticipated cash flows. The following table summarizes the changes in fair value of the Company s level 3 assets:

Balance, January 1, 2010	$ 2,386
Cash collections	(1,807)
Fair value adjustments	680
Balance, June 30, 2010	$ 1,259

Summary of Assets and Liabilities Recorded at Carrying Value

The fair value of the Company s cash and cash equivalents, trade receivables and accounts payable, approximates the carrying value due to the relative short maturity of these instruments. The fair value and carrying value of the Company s debt instruments are summarized as follows:

	June 30, 2010		December 31, 2009
	Fair Value	Carrying Value	Fair Value	Carrying Value
Current notes payable	$ 21,108	$ 21,108	$ 16,915	$ 16,915
Long-term debt	556,212	554,925	550,254	553,008
Total debt instruments	$ 577,320	$ 576,033	$ 567,169	$ 569,923

The fair value of the Company s industrial development revenue bonds are measured using unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets categorized as level 1 inputs. The fair value of the Company s current and long-term credit facility debt instruments approximates the carrying value due to the relative short maturity of the revolving borrowings under these instruments. The fair values of the Company s long-term senior notes was estimated using market observable inputs for the Company s comparable peers with public debt, including quoted prices in active markets, market indices and interest rate measurements, considered level 2 inputs.

NOTE 15: SEGMENT INFORMATION

In the first quarter of 2010, the Company began management of its businesses on a geographic basis, changing from the previous model of sales channel segments. In order to align the Company s external reporting of its financial results with this organizational change, the Company has modified its segment reporting. The Company now reports the following two segments: DNA and DI. The Company s chief operating decision maker regularly assesses information relating to these segments to make decisions, including the allocation of resources. Management evaluates the performance of the segments based on revenue and segment gross margin. Prior period segment information has been reclassified to conform to the current period presentation.

The DNA segment sells and services financial and retail systems in the United States and Canada. The DI segment sells and services financial and retail systems over the remainder of the globe as well as voting and lottery solutions in Brazil. Each segment buys the goods it sells from the Company s manufacturing plants or through external suppliers. Intercompany sales between legal entities are eliminated in consolidation and intersegment revenue is not significant. Each year, intercompany pricing is agreed upon which drives operating profit contribution.

The reconciliation between segment information and the condensed consolidated financial statements is disclosed. Revenue summaries by geographic area and product and service solutions are also disclosed. Certain information not routinely used in the management of the DNA and DI segments, information not allocated back to the segments or information that is impractical to report is not shown. Items not allocated are as follows: investment income, interest expense, equity in the net income of investees accounted for by the equity method, income tax expense or benefit and discontinued operations.

NOTE 16: DISCONTINUED OPERATIONS

During the third quarter of 2009, the Company sold its U.S. election systems business, primarily consisting of its subsidiary Premier Election Solutions, Inc. (PESI), for $12,147, including $5,000 of cash and contingent consideration with a fair value of $7,147, which represents 70 percent of any cash collected over a five-year period on the accounts receivable balance of the sold business as of August 31, 2009. The sale agreement contained indemnification clauses pursuant to which the Company agreed to indemnify the purchaser for any and all adverse consequences relating to certain existing liabilities. In addition, the sale agreement contained shared liability clauses pursuant to which the Company agreed to indemnify the purchaser for 70 percent of any adverse consequences to the purchaser arising out of certain defined potential litigation or obligations. ITEM 2: MANAGEMENT S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

OVERVIEW

Management s discussion and analysis should be read in conjunction with the condensed consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes that appear elsewhere in this quarterly report.

Introduction

Diebold, Incorporated is a global leader in providing integrated self-service delivery and security systems and services primarily to the financial, enterprise, government, and retail markets. Founded in 1859, the Company today has more than 16,000 employees with representation in nearly 90 countries worldwide.

During the past four years, the Company s management continued to execute against its strategic roadmap developed in 2006 to strengthen operations and build a strong foundation for future success in its two core lines of business: financial self-service and security solutions. This roadmap was built around five key priorities: increase customer loyalty; improve quality; strengthen the supply chain; enhance communications and teamwork; and rebuild profitability. In 2010, there are encouraging signs of stabilization and growth in many of the Company s major geographic areas. The Company s focus is on capturing this demand and on converting these opportunities into longer-term, services-driven relationships whenever possible. Also, the Company will continue to focus on remediation of its material weaknesses related to internal control over financial reporting.

During the second quarter of 2010, the Company delivered solid results despite a market environment that remains challenging. The Company is successfully maintaining leading market positions and increasing traction in others through its ability to deliver unmatched service support and software solutions. Also encouraging is the sustained improvement in profitability in the Company s service business and increased stability in the security business as new market segments which are beginning to generate overall growth in orders. The Company s increasing success in areas such as enterprise security is critical in its efforts to return the security business to growth moving forward. Income from continuing operations attributable to Diebold, Incorporated, net of tax, for the three months ended June 30, 2010 was $30,414 or $0.46 per share, a decrease of $1,574 or $0.02 per share, respectively, from the same period of 2009. Revenue for the three months ended June 30, 2010 was $665,180, a decrease of 3.7 percent from same period of 2009. Income from continuing operations attributable to Diebold, Incorporated, net of tax, for the six months ended June 30, 2010 was $55,308 or $0.83 per share, an increase of $14,591 or $0.22 per share, respectively, from the same period of 2009. Revenue for the six months ended June 30, 2010 was $1,284,179, a decrease of 4.7 percent from same period of 2009.

Vision and strategy

The Company s vision is to be recognized as the essential partner in creating and implementing ideas that optimize convenience, efficiency and security. This vision is the guiding principle behind the Company s transformation to becoming a more services-oriented company. Today, service comprises more than 50 percent of the Company s revenue. The Company expects that this percentage will continue to grow over time as the Company continues to build on its strong base of maintenance and advanced services to deliver world-class integrated services. During the quarter, the Company announced that Bellco Credit Union, among the 50 largest credit unions in the United States, chose Diebold Integrated Services® to enhance the efficiency of its operations and provide the latest financial innovations to its members. As part of the agreement, the Company upgraded 65 ATMs in Bellco s fleet. Fifty Diebold Opteva® terminals now include advanced deposit automation technology, enhancing the self-service transaction experience for Bellco members. In addition, Alliance Credit Union selected the Company to implement a complete outsourcing solution for numerous banking operations. By employing Diebold Integrated Services® outsourcing solutions, San Jose, California-based Alliance Credit Union reduced its banking vendor relationships from nine parties to just one. With the Company as the single point of contact, the credit union now has improved vendor accountability, streamlined budgeting and reduced operating costs. While these examples represent a relatively small base, management is encouraged by the rate at which this business is growing. In recognition of the Company s efforts, it was ranked 15th on the International Association of Outsourcing Professionals® 2010 Global Outsourcing 100 list. Another area of focus within the financial self-service business is broadening the Company s deposit automation solutions set, including check imaging, envelope-free currency acceptance, teller automation, and payment and document imaging solutions. The Company s ImageWay® check-imaging solution fulfills an industry-wide demand for cutting-edge technologies that enhance efficiencies. To date, the Company has shipped more than 50,000 deposit automation modules.

Financial institutions are eager to reduce costs and optimize management and productivity of their ATM channels and they are increasingly exploring new solutions. The Company remains uniquely positioned to provide the infrastructure necessary to manage all aspects of an ATM network . For example, U.S. Bank is partnering with the Company to provide a multi-vendor software application to run on the bank s Prodigy ATM terminals across its expanding retail franchise. The Company developed a custom software solution for the bank, built on the Company s cross-vendor Agilis EmPower® application. The Company will achieve a milestone as it delivers this solution to U.S. Bank ATMs more than 500,000 terminals around the world running Agilis software and cross-vendor framework components. The Company s software solution offers advantages to U.S. Bank, including operational efficiency and brand differentiation. The application provides a platform for enhanced ATM services to its customers into the future, such as deposit automation. In addition, the Company has introduced a comprehensive portfolio of skimming-protection solutions that help financial institutions mitigate card skimming, one of the largest threats against the ATM channel worldwide. Designed to provide effective countermeasures against known skimming attack vectors, the Company s ATM Security Protection Suite consists of anti-skimming packages and an industry-leading outsourced monitoring service. The suite offers five levels of protection to proactively guard against increasingly sophisticated card-skimming attacks.

Within the security business, the Company is diversifying by expanding and enhancing offerings in its financial, government, enterprise and retail markets. Looking ahead, management feels enterprise security and other growth initiatives outside of the financial space particularly in the security monitoring, retail and enterprise markets will help build growth. Additional growth strategies include broadening the Company s solutions portfolio in fire, energy management, remote video surveillance, logical security and integrated enterprise systems as well as expanding the distribution model. During the second quarter of 2010, the Company launched Diebold Fire Detection Solutions and Services, a service delivering fire detection hardware, software, monitoring and services to customers facilities in the United States. The new offering will enable the Company to deliver integrated fire and burglar protection to end users in a variety of markets. The integration of these services can result in increased operational efficiencies, greater consistency, reduced monitoring costs and even savings on insurance premiums for customers.

Also during the second quarter of 2010, the Company was awarded an order for an additional 30,000 election terminals in Brazil. Including this order, the Company will deliver a total of 195,000 election terminals in 2010. The Company is meeting its production schedules and is on track to complete the order as planned.

The focus for 2010 is to continue striking an appropriate balance between reducing costs and investing in future growth. The Company will continue to differentiate itself using its total value proposition, particularly as it relates to growth in emerging markets, deposit automation, services and security.

Cost savings initiatives, restructuring and other charges

In 2006, the Company launched the SmartBusiness (SB) 100 initiative to deliver $100,000 in cost savings by the end of 2008. In September 2008, the Company announced a new goal to achieve an additional $100,000 in cost savings called SB 200 by the end of 2011. The Company is currently on track to meet its 2010 savings target. The SB 200 initiative has led to rationalization of product development, streamlining procurement, realigning the Company s manufacturing footprint and improving logistics.

The Company is committed to making the strategic decisions that not only streamline operations, but also enhance its ability to serve its customers. The Company remains confident in its ability to continue to execute on cost-reduction initiatives, deliver solutions that help improve customers businesses and create shareholder value. Most recently, the Company announced it is realigning its organization and resources to better support opportunities in the emerging growth markets, resulting in the elimination of approximately 350 full-time jobs from its North America operations and corporate functions and a fourth quarter 2009 charge of approximately $9,500. During the three and six months ended June 30, 2010, the Company incurred pre-tax restructuring charges of $1,194 or $0.01 per share and $2,310 or $0.02 per share, respectively, primarily related to reductions in the Company s global workforce. During the three and six months ended June 30, 2009, the Company incurred pre-tax restructuring charges of $4,000 or $0.05 per share and $8,456 or $0.10 per share, respectively, primarily related to the sale of certain assets and liabilities in Argentina, strategic global manufacturing realignment and reductions in the Company s global workforce.

Other charges and expense reimbursements consist of items that the Company determines are non-routine in nature and are not expected to recur in future operations. Net non-routine income of $4,130 impacted the six months ended June 30, 2010 compared to net non-routine expenses of $15,005 in the same period of 2009. Net non-routine income for 2010 consisted primarily of reimbursements from the Company s director and officer (D&O) insurance carriers related to legal and other expenses incurred as part of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and Department of Justice (DOJ) investigations (government investigations) and was recorded in selling and administrative expense. The Company continues to pursue reimbursement with its D&O insurance carriers of approximately $6,900 of previously incurred legal and other expenditures related to the government investigations. In June 2010, the SEC finalized the settlement of civil charges stemming from the government investigations. The Company had previously reached an agreement in principle in 2009 with the staff of the SEC and the Company accrued a $25,000 penalty in the first quarter of 2009, which was paid in June 2010. Net non-routine expenses in 2009, consisted of $1,328 in legal and other consultation fees recorded in selling and administrative expense related to the government investigations and a $25,000 charge, recorded in miscellaneous, net, related to the 2009 agreement in principle with the staff of the SEC to settle civil charges. In addition, in 2009 selling and administrative expense was offset by $11,323 of non-routine income, primarily related to reimbursements from the Company s D&O insurance carriers related to legal and other expenses incurred as part of the government investigations.

Business Drivers

The business drivers of the Company s future performance include, but are not limited to:

- demand for new service offerings, including integrated services and outsourcing;
- demand for security products and services for the financial, enterprise, retail and government sectors;
- timing of a self-service upgrade and/or replacement cycle, including deposit automation in mature markets such as the United States; and
- high levels of deployment growth for new self-service products in emerging markets, such as Asia Pacific.

Second Quarter 2010 Comparisons with Second Quarter 2009

Net Sales

The following table represents information regarding our net sales:

	Three Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change	% Change
Net sales	$665,180	$690,896	$(25,716)	(3.7)

Financial self-service sales in the second quarter of 2010 decreased by $66,967 or 12.5 percent compared to the same period of 2009. The decrease in financial self-service sales included a net favorable currency impact of $20,824, of which $18,389 related to the Brazilian real. North America decreased $31,106 or 14.1 percent due to reduced volume in the U.S. national bank business as 2009 included a large project for a customer that upgraded the majority of their ATM install base with the Company s deposit automation solution. The project began in the second half of 2008 and was completed in the second quarter of 2009. On a fixed-rate basis, Brazil decreased $48,716 or 35.6 percent due to declines in volume.

Security solutions sales in the second quarter of 2010 decreased by $3,310 or 2.2 percent compared to the same period of 2009. North America decreased $8,713 or 6.2 percent due primarily to the lack of new bank branch construction as a result of the continued weakness in the U.S. financial market. Asia Pacific increased $3,923 or 73.8 percent from the second quarter of 2009 due to higher managed and installation service revenue as well as favorable currency impact.

Brazilian-based election systems sales were $46,213 in the second quarter of 2010 compared to none in the same period of 2009. This business has historically been cyclical, recurring every other year. Lottery systems sales decreased $1,652 in the second quarter of 2010 compared to the same period of 2009.

Gross Profit

The following table represents information regarding our gross profit:

	Three Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change/ % Point Change	% Change
Gross profit products	$ 77,142	$ 79,663	$ (2,521)	(3.2)
Gross profit services	101,002	89,247	11,755	13.2
Total gross profit	$ 178,144	$ 168,910	$ 9,234	5.5
Gross profit margin	26.8%	24.4%	2.4

Product gross margin was 25.8 percent in the second quarter of 2010 compared to 24.5 percent in the same period of 2009. The increase in product margin resulted from favorable geographic mix. Additionally, product gross margin included $696 and $869 of restructuring charges in the second quarter of 2010 and 2009, respectively. The restructuring charges in 2010 and 2009 primarily related to global manufacturing realignment and workforce reductions.

Service gross margin was 27.6 percent in the second quarter of 2010 compared to 24.4 percent in the same period of 2009. The service margin improvement was driven by improved productivity, lower service parts scrap expense, and reductions in workforce. Additionally, the second quarter of 2010 included net restructuring accrual adjustment benefits of $524 compared to restructuring charges of $1,798 in the same period of 2009. The second quarter 2010 net restructuring accrual benefit related to workforce reductions, and charges in the second quarter of 2009 related to workforce reductions and service branch consolidation.

Operating Expenses

The following table represents information regarding our operating expenses:

	Three Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change	% Change
Selling and administrative expense	$ 110,791	$ 105,352	$ 5,439	5.2
Research, development, and engineering expense	16,402	16,950	(548)	(3.2)
Impairment of intangible assets	4,096		4,096	N/A
Total operating expenses	$ 131,289	$ 122,302	$ 8,987	7.3

Selling and administrative expense in the second quarter of 2010 was impacted by $2,523 of net unfavorable currency fluctuations. Selling and administrative expense in the second quarter of 2010 and 2009 included $50 and $1,323, respectively, of reimbursements from the Company s D&O insurance carriers related to legal and other expenses incurred as part of the government investigations. In addition, selling and administrative expense included $1,079 and $1,356 of restructuring charges in the second quarter of 2010 and 2009, respectively. The second-quarter 2010 restructuring charges related primarily to workforce reductions, and charges in the second quarter of 2009 related to workforce reductions and service branch consolidation.

Research, development, and engineering expense was 2.5 percent of net sales in both the second quarter of 2010 and 2009. The $548 decrease in expense from prior year was paralleled by lower sales volume.

An impairment charge of $4,096 was incurred in the second quarter of 2010 related to intangible assets from the 2004 acquisition of TFE Technology Holdings (TFE), a maintenance provider of network and hardware service solutions to federal and state government agencies and commercial firms. The customer contract intangible assets related to this acquisition were fully impaired as of June 30, 2010.

Operating Profit

The following table represents information regarding our operating profit:

	Three Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change/ % Point Change	% Change
Operating profit	$46,855	$46,608	$ 247	0.5
Operating profit margin	7.0%	6.7%	0.3

Operating profit increased slightly from the prior year. Higher service margin performance was partially offset by higher selling and administrative expense due to unfavorable currency impact and higher levels of expense reimbursements in 2009. In addition, operating profit in the second quarter of 2010 was adversely impacted by the impairment charge of $4,096 related to customer contract intangible assets of TFE.

Other Income (Expense)

The following table represents information regarding our other income (expense):

	Three Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change	% Change
Investment income	$ 6,017	$ 7,004	$ (987)	(14.1)
Interest expense	(9,301)	(7,787)	(1,514)	19.4
Foreign exchange loss, net	(553)	(589)	36	(6.1)
Miscellaneous, net	1,393	1,085	308	28.4
Other income (expense)	$ (2,444)	$ (287)	$ (2,157)	N/M

Investment income in 2010 and 2009 included a (loss)/gain of ($710) and $1,002, respectively, on assets held in a rabbi trust under a deferred compensation arrangement. This decrease was partially offset by an increase in interest income on finance receivables. Interest expense was negatively impacted by $792 in credit facility fees in 2010 in addition to higher interest rates. Miscellaneous, net in 2010 included $605 of other income related to fair value adjustments on the contingent consideration from the sale of the U.S. election systems business.

In order to be consistent with prior-year presentation, the Company has reclassified $1,490 to investment income for the three months ended June 30, 2010, which was previously reported as miscellaneous, net within other income/(expense), in the Company s second quarter 2010 earnings release.

Income from Continuing Operations

The following table represents information regarding our income from continuing operations:

	Three Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change/ % Point Change	% Change
Income from continuing operations	$ 31,073	$ 33,272	$ (2,199)	(6.6)
Percent of net sales	4.7	4.8	(0.1)
Effective tax rate	30.0%	28.2%	1.8

The decrease in net income from continuing operations was driven by higher selling and administrative expense and the pre-tax impairment charge in the second quarter of 2010 of $4,096. In addition, lower product sales volume and unfavorable movement in other income/expense reduced income from continuing operations between years. These decreases were partially offset by higher service gross profit. The 1.8 percentage point increase in the effective tax rate was due to a variety of discrete items in the periods and expiration of the U.S. research and development credit and certain look-through rules related to foreign corporations that otherwise would have reduced the rate.

Loss from Discontinued Operations

The following table represents information regarding our loss from discontinued operations:

Three Months Ended June 30,

	2010	2009	$ Change	% Change
Loss from discontinued operations, net of tax	$ (683)	$ (1,558)	$ 875	(56.2)

Included in the 2010 loss from discontinued operations, net of tax, are costs related to the sale of the U.S. elections systems business and the December 2008 discontinuance of the Company s Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA)-based enterprise security business. Included in the 2009 loss from discontinued operations, net of tax, are the results of the U.S. elections systems business, which was sold in September 2009, and costs related to the December 2008 discontinuance of the Company s EMEA-based enterprise security business. Segment Analysis and Operating Profit Summary

In the first quarter of 2010, the Company began management of its businesses on a geographic basis, changing from the previous model of sales channel segments. In order to align the Company s external reporting of its financial results with this organizational change, the Company has modified its segment reporting. The Company now reports the following two segments: Diebold North America (DNA) and Diebold International (DI). DNA net sales of $322,635 for the second quarter 2010 decreased $39,819 or 11.0 percent compared to the same period of 2009. The decrease in DNA net sales was due to decreased product volume in the national and regional businesses, as well as corresponding declines in installation, partially offset by increased U.S. maintenance service volume. DI net sales of $342,545 for the second quarter of 2010 increased by $14,103 or 4.3 percent compared to the same period of 2009, which included a net favorable currency impact of $20,611, of which $18,663 related to the Brazilian real. In addition, there was higher sales volume in Brazil election systems, Latin America and Asia Pacific. These increases were partially offset by financial self-service volume decreases in Brazil and EMEA.

DNA operating profit for the second quarter of 2010 decreased by $2,021 or 7.9 percent compared to the same period of 2009. Operating profit was unfavorably affected by lower product volume related to the national and regional businesses, as well as corresponding declines in installation. Additionally, the impairment charge related to customer contract intangible assets of TFE of $4,096 unfavorably impacted DNA operating profit in the second quarter of 2010. The decreases were partially offset by higher service profitability attributable to continued productivity gains, lower service parts scrap expense, and reductions in workforce. DI operating profit for the second quarter of 2010 increased by $2,268 or 10.8 percent compared to the same period of 2009. Increases in product gross profit resulted from increases in Brazil election systems volume and favorable geographic as well as product mix. Increases in service gross profit resulted from higher parts sales in China, as well as additional managed and installation service revenue. These increases were partially offset by an increase in operating expenses.

The decrease in financial self-service sales included a net favorable currency impact of $59,081, of which $45,638 related to the Brazilian real. Security solutions sales in the first six months of 2010 decreased by $16,041 or 5.2 percent compared to the same period of 2009. North America decreased $23,927 or 8.3 percent due primarily to the lack of new bank branch construction as a result of the continued weakness in the U.S. financial market. Asia Pacific increased $6,287 or 67.0 percent from the first six months of 2009 due to higher managed and installation service revenue, increased parts sales, and favorable currency impact.

Brazilian-based election systems sales were $46,218 in the first six months of 2010 compared to none in the same period of 2009. This business has historically been cyclical, recurring every other year.

Gross Profit

The following table represents information regarding our gross profit:

	Six Months Ended June 30,		$ Change/ % Point	%
	2010	2009	Change	Change
Gross profit products	$ 142,610	$ 154,239	$ (11,629)	(7.5)
Gross profit services	193,544	166,998	26,546	15.9
Total gross profit	$ 336,154	$ 321,237	$ 14,917	4.6
Gross profit margin	26.2%	23.8%	2.4

Product gross margin was 25.6 percent in the first six months of 2010 compared to 24.7 percent in the same period of 2009. The increase in product margin resulted from favorable geographic mix. Additionally, product gross margin in the first six months of 2010 included restructuring charges of $482 compared to $2,404 in the same period of 2009. Restructuring charges in 2010 and 2009 primarily related to global manufacturing realignment and workforce reductions.

Service gross margin was 26.6 percent in the first six months of 2010 compared to 23.1 percent in the same period of 2009. The service margin improvement was driven by improved productivity and lower service parts scrap expense in the United Sates as well as higher parts sales in China and increased maintenance and managed service revenue. Additionally, the first six months of 2010 included net restructuring accrual adjustment benefits of $210 compared to restructuring charges of $3,400 in the first six months of 2009. The first six months of 2010 restructuring accrual benefit related primarily to workforce reductions, and charges in the first six months of 2009 related to workforce reductions and service branch consolidation, as well as employee severance costs in connection with the Company s sale of certain assets and liabilities in Argentina.

Operating Expenses

The following table represents information regarding our operating expenses:

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change	% Change
Selling and administrative expense	$ 209,768	$ 197,365	$ 12,403	6.3
Research, development, and engineering expense	34,850	32,788	2,062	6.3
Impairment of intangible assets	4,096		4,096	N/A
Total operating expenses	$ 248,714	$ 230,153	$ 18,561	8.1

Selling and administrative expense in the first six months of 2010 was impacted by $8,175 of unfavorable currency fluctuations as well as lower expense reimbursements. These increases were partially offset by lower net spend as a result of continued focus on cost reduction initiatives. Selling and administrative expense in the first six months of 2010 and 2009 included expense reimbursements of $4,147 and $11,323, respectively, from the Company s D&O insurance carriers related to legal and other expenses incurred as part of the government investigations. In addition, selling and administrative expense included $2,236 and $2,675 of restructuring charges in the first six months of 2010 and 2009, respectively. The 2010 restructuring charges related to workforce reductions, and the 2009 restructuring charges primarily related to workforce reductions, as well as employee severance costs in connection with the Company s sale of certain assets and liabilities in Argentina.

Research, development, and engineering expense as a percent of net sales in the first six months of 2010 and 2009 was 2.7 percent and 2.4 percent, respectively. The increase as a percent of net sales was due to lower sales volume. Additionally, research, development and engineering expense was unfavorably impacted by $1,168 of net currency fluctuations.

An impairment charge of $4,096 was incurred in 2010 related to intangible assets of TFE. The customer contract intangible assets related to this acquisition were fully impaired as of June 30, 2010.

Operating Profit

The following table represents information regarding our operating profit:

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change/ % Point Change	% Change
Operating profit	$ 87,440	$ 91,084	$ (3,644)	(4.0)
Operating profit margin	6.8%	6.8%

The decrease in operating profit was due to reduced product sales volume resulting in lower product gross profit as well as increased operating expenses due to unfavorable currency fluctuations. Operating profit also decreased due to lower expense reimbursements from the Company s D&O insurance carriers and the impairment charge in 2010. These decreases were partially offset by higher service gross margins.

	2010	2009	$ Change	% Change
Investment income	$ 13,489	$ 12,827	$ 662	5.2
Interest expense	(18,356)	(17,745)	(611)	3.4

Other income (expense)	$ (7,960)	$ (30,102)	$ 22,142	(73.6)

The increase in foreign exchange loss, net was primarily related to currency devaluation in Venezuela (refer to note 1 to the condensed consolidated financial statements). The change in miscellaneous, net was largely due to a charge of $25,000 in 2009 as the Company reached an agreement in principle with the staff of the SEC to settle civil charges. In June 2010, the SEC settlement was finalized and paid.

In order to be consistent with prior-year presentation, the Company has reclassified $3,088 to investment income for the six months ended June 30, 2010, which was previously reported as miscellaneous, net within other income/(expense).

Income from Continuing Operations

The following table represents information regarding our income from continuing operations:

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009	$ Change/ % Point Change	% Change
Income from continuing operations	$ 56,265	$ 44,110	$ 12,155	27.6
Percent of net sales	4.4	3.3	1.1
Effective tax rate	29.2%	27.7%	1.5

The increase in net income from continuing operations was related to the 2009 SEC charge of $25,000 as well as higher gross profit, partially offset by higher operating expenses inclusive of the impairment charge in second quarter of 2010. The 1.5 percentage point increase in the effective tax rate was due to a variety of discrete items in the periods and expiration of the U.S. research and development credit and certain look-through rules related to foreign corporations that otherwise would have reduced the rate.

Loss from Discontinued Operations

The following table represents information regarding our loss from discontinued operations:

	Six Months Ended June 30,

Loss from discontinued operations, net of tax	$ (1,653)	$ (8,639)	$ 6,986	(80.9)

Included in the 2010 loss from discontinued operations, net of tax, are costs related to the sale of the U.S. elections systems business and the December 2008 discontinuance of the Company s EMEA-based enterprise security business. Included in the 2009 loss from discontinued operations, net of tax, are the results of the U.S. elections systems business, which was sold in September 2009, and costs related to the December 2008 discontinuance of the Company s EMEA-based enterprise security business. Segment Analysis and Operating Profit Summary

DNA net sales of $618,835 for the first six months of 2010 decreased $99,302 or 13.8 percent compared to the same period of 2009. The decrease in DNA net sales was due to decreased product volume in the national and regional businesses, as well as the corresponding installation revenue, partially offset by increased U.S. service volume. DI net sales of $665,344 for the first six months of 2010 increased by $35,334 or 5.6 percent compared to the same period of 2009, which was primarily the result of net favorable currency fluctuations of $58,656, of which $46,148 related to the Brazilian real, as well as higher sales volume in Latin America and security solutions revenue in Asia Pacific. These increases were partially offset by financial self-service volume decreases in Brazil and EMEA.

DNA operating profit for the first six months of 2010 decreased by $15,983 or 32.7 percent compared to the same period of 2009. Operating profit was unfavorably affected by lower product volume related to the national and regional businesses, as well as corresponding declines in installation. Additionally, DNA operating profit was unfavorably impacted by a $4,096 impairment charge related to customer contract intangible assets of TFE in the second quarter of 2010. These decreases to DNA operating profit were partially offset by higher service profitability attributable to continued productivity gains and lower service parts scrap expense. DI operating profit for the first six months of 2010 increased by $12,339 or 29.2 percent compared to the same period of 2009. Increased product gross profit resulted from Brazilian election systems volume in 2010 partially offset by lower financial self-service revenue. Increased service gross profit was due to higher parts sales, as well as additional managed and installation service revenue. These increases were partially offset by an increase in operating expenses.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Capital resources are obtained from income retained in the business, borrowings under the Company s senior notes, committed and uncommitted credit facilities, long-term industrial revenue bonds, and operating and capital leasing arrangements. Management expects that the Company s capital resources will be sufficient to finance planned working capital needs, research and development activities, investments in facilities or equipment, pension contributions, dividends and the purchase of the Company s shares for at least the next 12 months. A substantial portion of cash and cash equivalents and short-term investments reside in international tax jurisdictions. Repatriation of these funds could be negatively impacted by potential foreign and domestic taxes. Part of the Company s growth strategy is to pursue strategic acquisitions. The Company has made acquisitions in the past and intends to make acquisitions in the future. The Company intends to finance any future acquisitions with either cash and short-term investments, cash provided from operations, borrowings under available credit facilities, proceeds from debt or equity offerings and/or the issuance of common shares.

The following table summarizes the results of our condensed consolidated statement of cash flows:

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2010	2009
Net cash flow (used in) provided by:
Operating activities	$ (16,047)	$ 79,826
Investing activities	(18,349)	(49,893)
Financing activities	(49,348)	(65,865)
Effect of exchange rate changes on cash and cash equivalents	(13,063)	705
Net decrease in cash and cash equivalents	$ (96,807)	$ (35,227)

Net cash used in operating activities was $16,047 for the six months ended June 30, 2010, a change of $95,873 from cash generated of $79,826 from the same period in 2009. Cash flows from operating activities are generated primarily from operating income and managing the components of working capital. Cash flows from operating activities during the six months ended June 30, 2010 were negatively affected by the payment of the $25,000 SEC settlement in June 2010. Additionally, cash flows from operating activities during the six months ended June 30, 2010 were negatively affected by unfavorable changes in trade receivables, inventories, other current assets and deferred revenue, partially offset by a $19,141 increase in net income and favorable changes in accounts payable and certain other assets and liabilities.

Net cash used in investing activities was $18,349 for the six months ended June 30, 2010, a decrease of $31,544 from $49,893 for the same period in 2009. The decrease was primarily due to a $5,364 decrease in payments for acquisitions and a $26,334 increase in net proceeds from maturities and sale of investments in the first six months of 2010 compared to the same period of 2009. In addition, during the first six months of 2010, the Company received $1,807 of proceeds from the sale of discontinued operations. These activities were partially offset by an increase of $4,779 in capital expenditures.

Net cash used in financing activities was $49,348 for the six months ended June 30, 2010, a decrease of $16,517 from $65,865 for the same period of 2009. The decrease was primarily due to a $35,750 change in net debt activity, moving from net repayments of $28,859 to net borrowings of $6,891. This was partially offset by $19,866 cash used to repurchase common shares during the first six months of 2010.

The effect of exchange rate changes on cash and cash equivalents for the six months included June 30, 2010 included $7,000 of devaluation related to Venezuela.

Dividends

The Company paid dividends of $36,076 and $34,713 in the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. Quarterly dividends per share were $0.27 and $0.26 per share for 2010 and 2009, respectively.

Contractual Obligations and Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

All contractual cash obligations with initial and remaining terms in excess of one year and contingent liabilities remained generally unchanged at June 30, 2010 compared to December 31, 2009. The Company does not participate in transactions that facilitate off balance sheet arrangements.

In October 2009, the Company entered into a three-year credit facility. As of June 30, 2010, the Company had borrowing limits totaling $491,748 ($400,000 and 75,000, translated) under this facility. Under the terms of the credit facility agreement, the Company has the ability, subject to various approvals, to increase the borrowing limits by $200,000 and 37,500. Up to $30,000 and 15,000 of the revolving credit facility is available under a swing line subfacility. The amount available under the credit facility at June 30, 2010 was $251,748.

In March 2006, the Company issued senior notes in an aggregate principal amount of $300,000 with a weighted-average fixed interest rate of 5.50 percent. The maturity dates of the senior notes are staggered, with $75,000, $175,000 and $50,000 becoming due in 2013, 2016 and 2018, respectively. Additionally, the Company entered into a derivative transaction to hedge interest rate risk on $200,000 of the senior notes, which was treated as a cash flow hedge. This reduced the effective interest rate by 14 basis points from 5.50 to 5.36 percent.

The Company s financing agreements contain various restrictive financial covenants, including net debt to capitalization and net interest coverage ratios. As of June 30, 2010, the Company was in compliance with the financial covenants in its debt agreements.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES

Management s discussion and analysis of the Company s financial condition and results of operations are based upon the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements. The preparation of these financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions about future events. These estimates and the underlying assumptions affect the amounts of assets and liabilities reported, disclosures about contingent assets and liabilities and reported amounts of revenues and expenses. Such estimates include the value of purchase consideration, valuation of trade receivables, inventories, goodwill, intangible assets, other long-lived assets, legal contingencies, guarantee obligations, indemnifications and assumptions used in the calculation of income taxes, pension and postretirement benefits and customer incentives, among others. These estimates and assumptions are based on management s best estimates and judgment. Management evaluates its estimates and assumptions on an ongoing basis using historical experience and other factors, including the current economic difficulties in the U.S. credit markets and the global markets. Management monitors the economic conditions and other factors and will adjust such estimates and assumptions when facts and circumstances dictate. Illiquid credit markets, volatile foreign currency and equity, and declines in the global economic environment have combined to increase the uncertainty inherent in such estimates and assumptions. As future events and their effects cannot be determined with precision, actual results could differ significantly from these estimates. Changes in those estimates resulting from continuing changes in the economic environment will be reflected in the financial statements in future periods.

Management believes there have been no significant changes, except for those discussed below, during the six months ended June 30, 2010 to the items that the Company disclosed as its critical accounting policies and estimates in Management s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations in the Company s annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009.

The Company s critical accounting policies as reported in the Company s annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009 were amended in the first quarter of 2010 upon the adoption of Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2009-13, Multiple-Deliverable Revenue Arrangements (ASU 2009-13), and FASB ASU 2009-14, Certain Arrangements That Include Software Elements (ASU 2009-14). On January 1, 2010, the Company elected to early adopt ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 and there was no material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements. However, the adoption of ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 modifies the Company s previously disclosed revenue recognition policy, which is presented below as revised. ASU 2009-14 amends software revenue recognition guidance in FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 985-605 Software Revenue Recognition (ASC 985-605) to exclude from its scope the Company s tangible products that contain both software and non-software components that function together to deliver a product s essential functionality. ASU 2009-13 modifies the requirements that must be met for the Company to recognize revenue from the sale of a delivered item that is part of a multiple-deliverable arrangement when other items have not yet been delivered. ASU 2009-13 establishes a selling price hierarchy for determining the selling price of a deliverable in a multiple-deliverable arrangement. The selling price must be based on vendor specific objective evidence (VSOE), if available, or third-party evidence (TPE) if VSOE is not available, or estimated selling price if neither VSOE nor TPE is available. Also, the residual method of allocating arrangement consideration has been eliminated. ASU 2009-13 and ASU 2009-14 were applied on a prospective basis for revenue arrangements entered into or materially modified after adoption. There were no changes to the Company s units of accounting within its multiple-deliverable arrangements, how the Company allocates arrangement consideration or in the pattern or timing of revenue recognition as a result of the adoption of these updates.

MANAGEMENT S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS as of June 30, 2010 DIEBOLD, INCORPORATED AND SUBSIDIARIES (dollars in thousands, except per share amounts)

Revenue Recognition The Company s revenue recognition policy is consistent with the requirements of FASB ASC 605, Revenue Recognition (ASC 605). In general, the Company records revenue when it is realized, or realizable and earned. The Company considers revenue to be realized, or realizable and earned, when the following revenue recognition requirements are met: persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, which is a customer contract; the products or services have been approved by the customer via delivery or installation acceptance; the sales price is fixed or determinable within the contract; and collectability is probable.

For product sales, the Company determines that the earnings process is complete when title, risk of loss and the right to use equipment has transferred to the customer. Within the North America business segment, this occurs upon customer acceptance. Where the Company is contractually responsible for installation, customer acceptance occurs upon completion of the installation of all items at a job site and the Company s demonstration that the items are in operable condition. Where the Company is not contractually responsible for installation, revenue recognition of these items is upon shipment or delivery to a customer location depending on the terms in the contract. Within the international business segment, customer acceptance is upon the earlier of delivery or completion of the installation depending on the terms in the contract with the customer. The Company has the following revenue streams related to sales to its customers:

Financial Self-Service Product & Integrated Services Revenue Financial self-service products pertain to ATMs. Included with the ATM is a software component and a non-software component that function together to deliver the ATM s essential functionality. The Company also provides service contracts on ATMs. Service contracts typically cover a 12-month period and can begin at any given month after the warranty period expires. The service provided under warranty is limited as compared to those offered under service contracts. Further, warranty is not considered a separate deliverable of the sale. The Company s warranty covers only replacement of defective parts inclusive of labor. Service contracts are tailored to meet the individual needs of each customer. Service contracts provide additional services beyond those covered under the warranty, and usually include preventative maintenance service, cleaning, supplies stocking and cash handling, all of which are not essential to the functionality of the equipment. Outsourced and managed services include remote monitoring, trouble-shooting for self-service customers, training, transaction processing, currency management, maintenance services and full support via person to person or online communication.

Revenue is recognized in accordance with ASC 605, the application of which requires judgment including the determination of whether an arrangement includes multiple deliverables. For stand-alone sales of service contracts, revenue is recognized ratably over the life of the contract period. In contracts that involve multiple-deliverable arrangements, product maintenance services are typically accounted for under FASB ASC 605-20, Separately Priced Extended Warranty Product Maintenance Contracts (ASC 605-20). Amounts deferred for undelivered deliverables are determined based upon the selling price of the deliverables as prescribed in FASB ASC 605-25, Revenue Recognition Multiple-Element Arrangements (ASC 605-25). The Company determines the selling price of deliverables within a multiple-deliverable arrangement based on VSOE (price when sold on stand-alone basis) or the estimated selling price where VSOE is not established for undelivered deliverables. Total arrangement consideration is allocated at the inception of the arrangement to all deliverables using the relative selling price method, which allocates any discount in the arrangement proportionately to each deliverable on the basis of each deliverable s selling price. There have been no material changes to these estimates for the periods presented and the Company believes that these estimates generally should not be subject to significant changes in the future. However, changes to the deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish the selling price could materially impact the amount of earned or deferred revenue.

Electronic Security Products & Integrated Services Revenue The Company provides global product sales, service, installation, project management and monitoring of original equipment manufacturer (OEM) electronic security products to financial, government, retail and commercial customers. These solutions provide the Company s customers a single-source solution to their electronic security needs. Revenue is recognized in accordance with ASC 605. Revenue on sales of the products described above is recognized upon shipment, installation or customer acceptance of the product as defined in the customer contract. In contracts that involve multiple deliverables, product maintenance services are typically accounted for under ASC 605-20. Amounts deferred for undelivered deliverables are based upon the selling price of the deliverables as prescribed in ASC 605-25. The Company determines the selling price of deliverables within a multiple-deliverable arrangement based on the price charged when each deliverable is sold separately or estimated selling price. Total arrangement consideration is allocated at the inception of the arrangement to all deliverables using the relative selling price method, which allocates any discount in the arrangement proportionately to each deliverable on the basis of each deliverable s selling price. There have been no material changes to these estimates for the periods presented and the Company believes that these estimates generally should not be subject to significant changes in the future. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish the selling price could materially impact the amount of earned or deferred revenue.

MANAGEMENT S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS as of June 30, 2010 DIEBOLD, INCORPORATED AND SUBSIDIARIES (dollars in thousands, except per share amounts)

Physical Security & Facility Revenue The Company designs and manufactures several of its physical security and facility products. These consist of vaults, safe deposit boxes and safes, drive-up banking equipment and a host of other banking facilities products. Revenue on sales of the products described above is recognized when the revenue recognition requirements of ASC 605 have been met.

Election and Lottery Systems Revenue The Company offers election and lottery systems product solutions and support to the government in Brazil. Election systems revenue consists of election equipment, networking, tabulation and diagnostic software development, training, support and maintenance. Lottery systems revenue consists of lottery equipment. The election and lottery equipment components are included in product revenue. The software development, training, support and maintenance components are included in service revenue. The election and lottery systems contracts can contain multiple deliverables and custom terms and conditions. For contracts that do not contain multiple deliverables, revenue is recognized upon customer acceptance. In contracts that involve multiple deliverables, amounts deferred for undelivered deliverables are based upon the selling price of the deliverables as prescribed in ASC 605-25. The Company determines the selling price of deliverables within a multiple-deliverable arrangement based on the estimated selling price. Total arrangement consideration is allocated at the inception of the arrangement to all deliverables using the relative selling price method, which allocates any discount in the arrangement proportionately to each deliverable on the basis of each deliverable s selling price. There have been no material changes to these estimates for the periods presented and the Company believes that these estimates generally should not be subject to significant changes in the future. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish the selling price could materially impact the amount of earned or deferred revenue.

Software Solutions & Service Revenue The Company offers software solutions consisting of multiple applications that process events and transactions (networking software) along with the related server. Sales of networking software represent software solutions to customers that allow them to network various different vendors ATMs onto one network and revenue is recognized in accordance with ASC 985-605. Included within service revenue is revenue from software support agreements, which are typically 12 months in duration and pertain to networking software. For stand-alone sales of software support, revenue is recognized ratably over the life of the contract period. In contracts that involve multiple deliverables, amounts deferred for support are based upon VSOE of the value of the deliverables as prescribed in ASC 985-605, which requires judgment about whether the deliverables can be divided into more than one unit of accounting and whether the separate units of accounting have value to the customer on a stand-alone basis. There have been no material changes to these deliverables for the periods presented. However, changes to deliverables in future arrangements and the ability to establish VSOE could affect the timing of revenue recognition.

RECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

In July 2010, the FASB issued ASU 2010-20, Disclosures about the Credit Quality of Financing Receivables and the Allowance for Credit Losses, (ASU 2010-20). ASU 2010-20 updates FASB ASC 310, Receivables. This update requires additional disclosures to assist financial statement users in assessing the nature of credit risk in an entity s financing receivables, how that risk is analyzed in determining the related allowance for credit losses, and changes to the allowance during the reporting period. ASU 2010-20 is effective for interim and annual periods ending on or after December 15, 2010. The adoption of this update will not have an impact on the financial statements of the Company, however, the Company will provide additional disclosure as required by ASU 2010-20.

- competitive pressures, including pricing pressures and technological developments;
- changes in the Company s relationships with customers, suppliers, distributors and/or partners in its business ventures;
- changes in political, economic or other factors such as currency exchange rates, inflation rates, recessionary or expansive trends, taxes and regulations and laws affecting the worldwide business in each of the Company s operations, including Brazil, where a significant portion of the Company s revenue is derived;
- the Company s ability to take actions to mitigate the effect of the Venezuelan currency devaluation, further devaluation, actions of the Venezuelan government, and economic conditions in Venezuela;
- the continuing effects of the recent economic downturn and the disruptions in the financial markets, including the bankruptcies, restructurings or consolidations of financial institutions, which could reduce our customer base and/or adversely affect our customers ability to make capital expenditures, as well as adversely impact the availability and cost of credit;
- acceptance of the Company s product and technology introductions in the marketplace;
- the amount of cash and non-cash charges in connection with the restructuring of the Company s North America operations and corporate functions, and the closure of the Company s Newark, Ohio facility;
- changes in the Company s intention to repatriate cash and cash equivalents and short-term investments residing in international tax jurisdictions could negatively impact foreign and domestic taxes;
- unanticipated litigation, claims or assessments;

variations in consumer demand for financial self-service technologies, products and services;

potential security violations to the Company s information technology systems;

the investment performance of the Company s pension plan assets, which could require us to increase the Company s pension contributions, and significant changes in health care costs, including those that may result from government action such as the recently enacted U.S. health care legislation;

the Company s ability to achieve benefits from its cost-reduction initiatives and other strategic changes.

ITEM 3: QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

The Company is exposed to foreign currency exchange rate risk inherent in its international operations denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. A hypothetical 10 percent movement in the applicable foreign exchange rates would have resulted in an increase or decrease in operating profit of approximately $6,910 and $5,087 for the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. The sensitivity model assumes an instantaneous, parallel shift in the foreign currency exchange rates. Exchange rates rarely move in the same direction. The assumption that exchange rates change in an instantaneous or parallel fashion may overstate the impact of changing exchange rates on amounts denominated in a foreign currency.

The Company s risk-management strategy uses derivative financial instruments such as forwards to hedge certain foreign currency exposures. The intent is to offset gains and losses that occur on the underlying exposures, with gains and losses on the derivative contracts hedging these exposures. The Company does not enter into derivatives for trading purposes. The Company s primary exposures to foreign exchange risk are movements in the euro/dollar, pound/dollar, dollar/forint and dollar/franc. There were no significant changes in the Company s foreign exchange risks in the first six months of 2010 compared with 2009.

The Company s Venezuelan operations consist of a fifty-percent owned subsidiary, which is consolidated. On January 8, 2010, the Venezuelan government announced the devaluation of its currency, the bolivar, and the establishment of a two-tier exchange structure. Subsequently, during May 2010, the Venezuelan government seized control of the parallel market, thereby creating a new government-controlled rate. Transitioning from the parallel rate to the new government-controlled rate did not have a material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements. The impact was a decrease of $500 and $7,000 to the Company s cash balance during the three and six months ended June 30, 2010, respectively. Net losses resulting from the remeasurement of the Venezuelan financial statements were recorded in the condensed consolidated statement of income for approximately $0.04 per share for the six months ended June 30, 2010. In the future, if the Company converts bolivares at a rate other than the new government-controlled rate, the Company may realize gains or losses that would be recorded in the statement of income.

The Company manages interest rate risk with the use of variable rate borrowings under its committed and uncommitted credit facilities and interest rate swaps. Variable rate borrowings under the credit facilities totaled $273,008 at June 30, 2010, of which $50,000 was effectively converted to fixed rate using interest rate swaps. A one percentage point increase or decrease in interest rates would have resulted in an increase or decrease in interest expense for the six months ended June 30, 2010 and 2009 of approximately $1,213 and 1,526, respectively, including the impact of the swap agreements. The Company s primary exposure to interest rate risk is movements in London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR), which is consistent with prior periods. As discussed in note 12 to the condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company hedged $200,000 of the fixed rate borrowings under its private placement agreement, which was treated as a cash flow hedge. This reduced the effective interest rate by 14 basis points from 5.50 to 5.36 percent.

ITEM 4: CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

This quarterly report includes the certifications of our chief executive officer (CEO) and chief financial officer (CFO) required by Rule 13a-14 of the Exchange Act. See Exhibits 31.1 and 31.2. This Item 4 includes information concerning the controls and control evaluations referred to in those certifications.

Based on the performance of procedures by management, designed to ensure the reliability of financial reporting, management believes that the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements fairly present, in all material respects, the Company s financial position, results of operations and cash flows as of the dates, and for the periods presented. Refer to Note 1 in the notes to condensed consolidated financial statements.

DISCLOSURE CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) promulgated under the Exchange Act) are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in the reports filed or submitted under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC s rules and forms and that such information is accumulated and communicated to management, including the CEO and CFO as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosures.

In connection with the preparation of this quarterly report, management, under the supervision and with the participation of the CEO and CFO, conducted an evaluation of disclosure controls and procedures, including the remedial actions described below, as of the end of the period covered by this report. Based on this evaluation, certain material weaknesses in internal control over financial reporting, as discussed in detail below and disclosed in previous filings, have not been remediated. As a result, the CEO and CFO have concluded that, as of June 30, 2010, and through the filing of this quarterly report, the Company s disclosure controls and procedures were not effective due to material weaknesses in internal control over financial reporting, as discussed in detail below. As described in detail throughout this Item 4, management continues to take actions to remediate material weaknesses in the Company s internal control over financial reporting.

The Company continues to use the management certification process to identify matters that might require disclosure and to encourage transparency and accountability with respect to the accuracy of the Company s disclosures in order to strengthen disclosure controls and procedures. This process requires multiple levels of management to provide sub-certifications, all of which are aggregated and reported to the CEO and CFO for assessment prior to filing the quarterly condensed consolidated financial statements. The Company utilized this process in preparing this quarterly report.

Management notes that the following previously identified control deficiencies constitute material weaknesses as of June 30, 2010:

Selection, Application and Communication of Accounting Policies: The previously reported material weakness relating to application of accounting policies is not considered remediated as the Company did not appropriately apply the revenue recognition policy for training and maintenance services in certain international entities. Based on a review of an accrued liability account that is used to record the commitment to provide these services, it was noted that the services were not properly identified and accounted for as separate deliverables in multiple-deliverable arrangements at inception. This misapplication of the revenue recognition policy is a result of insufficient knowledge of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) to properly identify and account for multiple-deliverable arrangements. This control deficiency resulted in errors that were noted during the execution of account reconciliation control procedures. Although none of these errors were material, either individually or in the aggregate, and these errors did not result in adjustments to the financial statements, management has concluded that the related control deficiency constitutes a material weakness since it is reasonably possible that these errors could have been material.

Controls over Income Taxes: During 2009, management determined that control procedures were not effective related to providing adequate review and oversight of the calculation of the income tax provision. These control deficiencies resulted in errors that required out-of-period adjustments in the Company s 2009 tax provision. Although none of these errors were material, either individually or in the aggregate, management has concluded that the related control deficiencies constitute a material weakness since it is reasonably possible that these errors could have been material.

CHANGES IN INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

As previously reported under Item 9A Controls and Procedures in the Company s annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009, management concluded that the internal control over financial reporting was not effective based on the material weaknesses identified. Management has continued to work on remediation efforts since the filing of that report. During the quarter ended June 30, 2010, there were no changes in internal control that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, internal control over financial reporting.

REMEDIATION STEPS TO ADDRESS MATERIAL WEAKNESSES

Management is committed to remediating its remaining material weaknesses in a timely fashion. Management s Sarbanes-Oxley compliance function is responsible for helping to monitor short-term and long-term remediation plans. In addition, the Company has an executive owner to direct the necessary remedial changes to the overall design of its internal control over financial reporting and to address the root causes of the material weaknesses. The leadership team is committed to achieving and maintaining a strong control environment, high ethical standards and financial reporting integrity. This commitment will continue to be communicated to and reinforced with all associates. The remediation efforts, outlined below, are intended to address the identified material weaknesses in internal control over financial reporting.

Selection, Application and Communication of Accounting Policies: During the second quarter of 2010, corporate management, in conjunction with operational finance management, designed processes to enhance existing controls related to the identification and accounting for the deliverables in multiple-deliverable arrangements in accordance with the Company s revenue recognition policy. As part of the process design, a comprehensive Revenue Recognition Template, tailored to the specific terms and conditions in the Company s sales contracts, was developed to facilitate operational finance associates with completing and documenting detailed sales contract reviews.

At the end of the second quarter of 2010, corporate management began the implementation process by conducting focused training sessions in all divisions for operational finance associates responsible for the application of the revenue recognition policy to multiple-deliverable arrangements. This training included a detailed review of the application of the Company s policy pertaining to multiple-deliverable arrangement revenue recognition as well as instructions on the completion of the Revenue Recognition Template. The goal of this training was to enhance and augment the depth of knowledge of the responsible operational finance associates to reduce the risk of future accounting errors. The Company continues to assess the application of the Company s revenue recognition policy and this assessment will continue through the end of 2010.

During the third quarter, operational finance associates will begin to implement the usage of the Revenue Recognition Template to complete and document detailed sales contract reviews on multiple-deliverable arrangements. As part of this implementation process, corporate management will continue to align and implement controls that provide the proper oversight of the recording and reporting of the Company s multiple-deliverable arrangements globally. In addition, management plans to assess its global finance organization to assure there are resources with sufficient knowledge to properly apply the revenue recognition policy going forward.

At this time, the Company anticipates the remediation efforts related to this material weakness will be fully implemented by the end of 2010.

Controls over Income Taxes: During the second quarter of 2010, management, with the assistance of third party consultants, initiated activities in its remediation plan to address the root causes of the tax material weakness. These ongoing activities include:

- Performing a focused review of tax balance sheet accounts within foreign entities;
- Accelerating key activities to be completed in the annual tax provision process and increasing the level of senior finance management review of the tax provision;
- Enhancing and expanding key controls for greater accuracy and completeness in the tax provision process and sub-processes;

Analyzing and revising the Company s tax ledger accounts in order to deploy standardized, tax-sensitized trial balances; and Redefining roles and responsibilities in the corporate tax organization and expanding the tax organization to address resource constraints.

At this time, the Company anticipates the remediation efforts related to this material weakness will be fully implemented by the end of 2010.

DIEBOLD, INCORPORATED AND SUBSIDIARIES
FORM 10-Q as of June 30, 2010

The Company s management believes the remediation measures described above will remediate the identified control deficiencies and strengthen the Company s internal control over financial reporting. As management continues to evaluate and work to improve its internal control over financial reporting, it may be determined that additional measures must be taken to address control deficiencies or it may be determined that the Company needs to modify, or in appropriate circumstances not to complete, certain of the remediation measures.

PART II OTHER INFORMATION

ITEM 1: LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

(Dollars in thousands)

At June 30, 2010, the Company was a party to several lawsuits that were incurred in the normal course of business, none of which individually or in the aggregate is considered material by management in relation to the Company s financial position or results of operations. In management s opinion, the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements would not be materially affected by the outcome of any present legal proceedings, commitments, or asserted claims.

In addition to the routine legal proceedings noted above, the Company has been served with various lawsuits, filed against it and certain current and former officers and directors, by shareholders and participants in the Company s 401(k) savings plan, alleging breaches of fiduciary duties with respect to the 401(k) plan. These complaints seek compensatory damages in unspecified amounts, fees and expenses related to such lawsuits and the granting of extraordinary equitable and/or injunctive relief. For each of these lawsuits, the date each complaint was filed, the name of the plaintiff and the federal court in which such lawsuit is pending are as follows:

McDermott v. Diebold, Inc., et al., No. 5:06CV170 (N.D. Ohio, filed January 24, 2006).

Barnett v. Diebold, Inc., et al., No. 5:06CV361 (N.D. Ohio, filed February 15, 2006).

Farrell v. Diebold, Inc., et al., No. 5:06CV307 (N.D. Ohio, filed February 8, 2006).

Forbes v. Diebold, Inc., et al., No. 5:06CV324 (N.D. Ohio, filed February 10, 2006).

Gromek v. Diebold, Inc., et al., No. 5:06CV579 (N.D. Ohio, filed March 14, 2006).

The McDermott, Barnett, Farrell, Forbes and Gromek cases, which allege breaches of fiduciary duties under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 with respect to the 401(k) plan, have been consolidated into a single proceeding. In May 2009, the Company agreed to settle the 401(k) class action litigation for $4,500, to be paid out of the Company s insurance policies. The settlement is subject to final documentation and approval of the court.

On June 30, 2010, a shareholder filed a putative class action complaint in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio alleging violations of the federal securities laws against the Company, certain current and former officers, and the Company s independent auditors (Louisiana Police Employees Retirement System v. KPMG et al., No. 10-CV-1461). The complaint seeks unspecified compensatory damages and fees and expenses related to the lawsuit. The complaint generally relates to the matters set forth in the court documents filed by the SEC on June 2, 2010, discussed below.

The Company, including certain of its subsidiaries, filed a lawsuit on May 30, 2008 (Premier Election Solutions, Inc., et al. v. Board of Elections of Cuyahoga County, et al., Case No. 08-CV-05-7841, (Franklin Cty. Ct Common Pleas)) against the Board of Elections of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, the Board of County Commissioners of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, (collectively, the County), and Ohio Secretary of State Jennifer Brunner (Secretary) regarding several Ohio contracts under which the Company provided voting equipment and related services to the State of Ohio and a number of its counties. The lawsuit was precipitated by the County s threats to sue the Company for unspecified damages. The complaint seeks a declaration that the Company met its contractual obligations. In response, on July 15, 2008, the County filed an answer and counterclaim alleging that the voting system was defective and seeking declaratory relief and unspecified damages under several theories of recovery. In addition, the County is trying to pierce the Company s corporate veil and hold Diebold, Incorporated directly liable for acts and omissions alleged to have been committed by its subsidiaries (even though Diebold, Incorporated is not a party to the contracts). In connection with the Company s recent sale of those subsidiaries, the Company has agreed to indemnify the subsidiaries and their purchaser from any and all liabilities arising out of the lawsuit. In March 2010, the Company and the County agreed to settle their claims for $7,500, to be paid out of the Company s insurance policies, and the court has dismissed the portion of the lawsuit involving the County.

The Secretary has also filed an answer and counterclaim seeking declaratory relief and unspecified damages under several theories of recovery. The Butler County Board of Elections has joined in, and incorporated by reference, the Secretary s counterclaim. The Company has filed motions to dismiss and for more definite statement of the counterclaims. The motions are fully briefed and are awaiting a decision by the court. The Secretary has also added ten Ohio counties as additional defendants, claiming that those counties also experienced problems with the voting systems, but many of those counties have moved for dismissal. In addition, the Secretary has moved the court for leave to add 37 additional Ohio counties who use the voting system as defendants, contending that they have an interest in the litigation and must be made parties. The Secretary s motion remains pending. Over the past several months, the Company has been actively engaged in settlement discussions with the Secretary and the Ohio counties and, as a result, the case has been formally stayed. A settlement with one of the counties, Montgomery County, has been reached so far for an immaterial amount, to be paid out of the Company s insurance policies, and free or discounted products and services, to be provided by the Company s former subsidiary.

Management is unable to determine the financial statement impact, if any, of the putative federal securities class action and the Secretary s actions as June 30, 2010.

The Company was informed during the first quarter of 2006 that the staff of the SEC had begun an informal inquiry relating to the Company s revenue recognition policy. In the second quarter of 2006, the Company was informed that the SEC s inquiry had been converted to a formal, non-public investigation. In the fourth quarter of 2007, the Company also learned that the DOJ had begun a parallel investigation. On May 1, 2009, the Company reached an agreement in principle with the staff of the SEC to settle civil charges stemming from the staff s pending investigation. In addition, the Company has been informed by the U.S. Attorney s Office for the Northern District of Ohio that it will not bring criminal charges against the Company for the transactions and accounting issues that are the subject of the SEC investigation. The Company recorded a charge of $25,000 in the first quarter of 2009 in connection with the agreement in principle.

On June 2, 2010, the SEC filed materials in U.S. District Court finalizing the settlement of civil charges stemming from the investigation conducted by the Division of Enforcement of the SEC. Under the terms of the settlement, the Company has consented, without admitting or denying civil securities fraud charges, to a judgment requiring payment of a civil penalty of $25,000 and an injunction against committing or causing any violations or future violations of certain specified provisions of the federal securities laws. The Company paid the penalty to the SEC in June 2010.

While conducting due diligence in connection with a potential acquisition in Russia, the Company identified certain transactions and payments by its subsidiary in Russia (primarily during 2005 to 2008) that potentially implicate the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), particularly the books and records provisions of the FCPA. While the Company s current assessment indicates that the transactions and payments in question do not materially impact or alter the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company continues to collect information and is conducting an internal review of its global FCPA compliance. At this time, the Company cannot predict the outcome or impact of this global review. In addition, the Company has voluntarily self-reported its findings to the SEC and the DOJ and intends to fully cooperate with these agencies in their review.

ITEM 1A: RISK FACTORS

(Dollars in thousands)

The following risk factors, in addition to the risk factors previously disclosed in the Company s quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2010 and annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009, are certain risk factors that could affect our business, financial condition, operating results and cash flows. These risk factors should be considered in connection with evaluating the forward-looking statements contained in this quarterly report on Form 10-Q because they could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in any forward-looking statement. These risk factors are not the only ones we face. If any of these events actually occur, our business, financial condition, operating results or cash flows could be negatively affected.

We caution the reader to keep these risk factors in mind and refrain from attributing undue certainty to any forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this quarterly report.

Because our operations are conducted worldwide, they are affected by risks of doing business abroad.

We generate a significant percentage of revenue from sales and service operations conducted outside the United States. Revenue from international operations amounted to approximately 50.9 percent in 2009, 52.0 percent in 2008 and 49.1 percent in 2007 of total revenue during these respective years.

Accordingly, international operations are subject to the risks of doing business abroad, including the following:

- fluctuations in currency exchange rates;
- transportation delays and interruptions;
- political and economic instability and disruptions;
- restrictions on the transfer of funds;
- the imposition of duties and tariffs;
- import and export controls;
- changes in governmental policies and regulatory environments;
- disadvantages of competing against companies from countries that are not subject to U.S. laws and regulations, including the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA);
- labor unrest and current and changing regulatory environments;
- the uncertainty of product acceptance by different cultures;
- the risks of divergent business expectations or cultural incompatibility inherent in establishing joint ventures with foreign partners;
- difficulties in staffing and managing multi-national operations;
- limitations on the ability to enforce legal rights and remedies;
- reduced protection for intellectual property rights in some countries; and
- potentially adverse tax consequences.

Any of these events could have an adverse effect on our international operations by reducing the demand for our products or decreasing the prices at which we can sell our products, thereby adversely affecting our financial condition or operating results. We may not be able to continue to operate in compliance with applicable customs, currency exchange control regulations, transfer pricing regulations or any other laws or regulations to which we may be subject. In addition, these laws or regulations may be modified in the future, and we may not be able to operate in compliance with those modifications.

The Company s Venezuelan operations consist of a fifty-percent owned subsidiary, which is consolidated. On January 8, 2010, the Venezuelan government announced the devaluation of its currency, the bolivar, and the establishment of a two-tier exchange structure. Subsequently, during May 2010, the Venezuelan government seized control of the parallel market, thereby creating a new government-controlled rate. Transitioning from the parallel rate to the new government-controlled rate did not have a material impact on the Company s condensed consolidated financial statements. The impact was a decrease of $500 and $7,000 to the Company s cash balance during the three and six months ended June 30, 2010, respectively. Net losses resulting from the remeasurement of the Venezuelan financial statements were recorded in the condensed consolidated statement of income for approximately $0.04 per share for the six months ended June 30, 2010. In the future, if the Company converts bolivares at a rate other than the new government-controlled rate, the Company may realize gains or losses that would be recorded in the statement of income.

We may be exposed to liabilities under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and any determination that the Company or any of its subsidiaries has violated the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act could have a material adverse effect on our business.

We are subject to compliance with various laws and regulations, including the FCPA and similar worldwide anti-bribery laws, which generally prohibit companies and their intermediaries from engaging in bribery or making other improper payments to foreign officials for the purpose of obtaining or retaining business or gaining an unfair business advantage. It also requires proper record keeping and characterization of such payments in our reports filed with the SEC.

While our employees and agents are required to comply with these laws, we operate in many parts of the world that have experienced governmental and commercial corruption to some degree and, in certain circumstances, strict compliance with antibribery laws may conflict with local customs and practices. Foreign companies, including some that may compete with us, may not be subject to the FCPA; such companies may be more likely to engage in prohibited activities which could have a significant adverse impact on our ability to compete for business in such countries.

Despite our commitment to legal compliance and corporate ethics, we cannot ensure that our internal control policies and procedures will always protect us from intentional, reckless or negligent acts committed by our employees or agents. Violations of these laws, or allegations of such violations, could disrupt our business and result in financial penalties, debarment from government contracts and other consequences that may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations.

In particular, while conducting due diligence in connection with a potential acquisition in Russia, we recently identified certain transactions and payments by our subsidiary in Russia (primarily during 2005 to 2008) that potentially implicate the FCPA, particularly the books and records provisions of the FCPA. While our current assessment indicates that the transactions and payments in question do not materially impact or alter our financial statements, we continue to collect information and we are conducting an internal review of our global FCPA compliance. At this time, we cannot predict the outcome or impact of this global review. In addition, we have voluntarily self-reported our findings to the SEC and the DOJ and we intend to fully cooperate with these agencies in their review. We cannot predict the outcome of these or any future government reviews; however, any indictment, conviction or material fine, debarment or settlement arising out of these reviews could have a material adverse affect on our business, financial condition, results of operation and future prospects.

In addition, our business opportunities in Russia might be adversely affected by these reviews and any subsequent findings. Other countries in which we do business may also initiate their own reviews and impose similar penalties, including prohibition of our participating in or curtailment of business operations in those jurisdictions. If it is determined that a violation of the FCPA has occurred, such violation may give rise to an event of default under our loan agreements. We could also face third-party claims in connection with any such violation or as a result of the outcome of the current or any future government reviews. Our disclosure, internal review, any current or future governmental review and any findings regarding any alleged violations of the FCPA could, individually or in the aggregate, have a material adverse affect on our reputation and our ability to obtain new business or retain existing business from our current clients and potential clients, to attract and retain employees and to access the capital markets.
