VISX WINS ISS SUPPORT FOR ITS BOARD NOMINEES

ISS Rejects Icahn Nominee

SANTA CLARA, CALIFORNIA, (May 14, 2003) - VISX, INCORPORATED (NYSE: EYE) today announced that Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) has recommended that VISX stockholders vote FOR VISX's proposal to re-elect all seven current members of the Board at the company's May 23, 2003 Annual Meeting of Stockholders. To follow ISS's recommendation, VISX stockholders should vote the company's GOLD proxy card TODAY.

ISS is widely recognized as the leading independent proxy advisory firm in the nation. Its recommendations are relied upon by hundreds of major institutional investment firms, mutual funds, and other fiduciaries throughout the country.

In recommending that VISX stockholders re-elect VISX's Board nominees, ISS stated in its May 13, 2003 report that:

"In conclusion, in the absence of compelling evidence to support Mr. Icahn's arguments, the addition to the board of his nominee Mr. Meister, who has limited finance experience (which includes two years as a junior analyst at Lazard Freres and short stints at Northstar Capital Partners and J Net Ventures) is not warranted."

"We are pleased that ISS recognizes that the current VISX Board is the right Board to lead our company into the future," said Liz Davila, chairman, president and chief executive officer of VISX. "We believe Carl Icahn's 30 year-old employee-nominee, Keith Meister, does not have the industry knowledge or business experience to adequately represent the interests of VISX stockholders as a Board member.

"In distinct contrast, our current Board and management team are comprised of individuals who are veterans in our industry. We are committed to building value for all our stockholders and have a track record of execution. We look forward to continuing to drive profitability and shareholder value by capitalizing on the opportunities created by our innovative technology and market leadership," concluded Ms. Davila.

VISX continues to urge stockholders to reject Mr. Icahn's proposal by voting FOR the Board's director nominees and signing, dating and mailing the company's GOLD proxy card TODAY. VISX stockholders who have questions or need assistance voting their shares may call MacKenzie Partners collect at (212) 929-5500 or toll free at (800) 322-2885.
