Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On September 27, 2006, Tenet Healthcare Corporation, together with its subsidiaries, affiliates, hospitals and other health care facilities (collectively, "Tenet"), entered into a Corporate Integrity Agreement ("CIA") with the Office of Inspector General ("OIG") of the United States Department of Health and Human Services to promote the company's compliance with the statutes, regulations and written directives of Medicare, Medicaid and all other federal health care programs. Tenet had agreed to enter into a multi-year corporate integrity agreement with the OIG within 90 days of the effective date of its June 2006 Civil Settlement Agreement with the United States of America, acting through the Department of Justice ("DOJ") and on behalf of the OIG; the TRICARE Management Activity; and the Office of Personnel Management. The settlement concluded several previously disclosed governmental investigations, including an inquiry by the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Central District of California into Tenet's receipt of certain Medicare outlier payments prior to 2003, as well as investigations by U.S. Attorneys in Los Angeles and San Francisco, California, El Paso, Texas, New Orleans, Louisiana, St. Louis, Missouri and Memphis, Tennessee into physician financial relationships. The settlement also brought to a close civil litigation regarding Medicare coding that DOJ first filed against the company in January 2003 and various qui tam, or whistleblower, actions brought by private citizens on behalf of the government concerning allegedly excessive or inappropriate claims to government health care programs, including Medicare.

The CIA, which has a five-year term commencing immediately and terminating on September 26, 2011, establishes annual training requirements and compliance reviews by independent organizations in specific areas. In particular, the CIA requires, among other things, that Tenet:

maintain its existing company-wide quality initiatives in the areas of evidence-based medicine, standards of clinical excellence and quality measurements;

maintain its existing company-wide compliance program and code of conduct;

formalize in writing its policies and procedures in the areas of billing and reimbursement, compliance with the federal Anti-Kickback statute and Stark laws, and clinical quality, almost all of which the company already has in place and the remainder of which will be in place very shortly;

provide a variety of general and specialized compliance training to its employees, contractors and physicians it employs or who serve as medical directors and/or serve on a Tenet hospital governing board; and engage independent outside entities to provide reviews of compliance and effectiveness in five areas, including Medicare outlier payments, diagnosis-related group claims, unallowable costs, physician financial arrangements and clinical quality systems.

Further, the CIA requires Tenet to maintain or establish performance standards and incentives that link compensation and incentive awards directly to clinical quality measures and compliance program effectiveness measures. The CIA also establishes a number of specific requirements for the Quality, Compliance and Ethics Committee of Tenet's Board of Directors. Notably, the Committee must (1) retain an independent compliance expert; and (2) assess Tenet's compliance program, including arranging for the performance of a review of the effectiveness of the program. Based on this work, the Committee must then adopt a resolution regarding its conclusions as to whether Tenet has implemented an effective compliance program.

In turn, the OIG provided a release to Tenet, agreeing not to institute, direct or maintain an administrative action seeking exclusion against Tenet, or any of its hospitals or subsidiaries, for the conduct that is the subject of the Civil Settlement Agreement.

A copy of the CIA is posted on Tenet's website at www.tenethealth.com. The Company will also file a copy of the agreement with its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ending September 30, 2006.
