Re: Acquisition of Shares of Verigy Ltd.
(Whereby Verigy Ltd. is to Become a Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Advantest Corporation)

On March 28, 2011, Advantest Corporation (hereinafter "Advantest") agreed to acquire all of the outstanding ordinary shares of Verigy Ltd. (which is headquartered in Singapore; hereinafter "Verigy"), a leading manufacturer of semiconductor test systems, which will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Advantest (the "Transaction").

1. Background of the Transaction

Since its founding in 1954, Advantest has been committed to its mission of supporting society's development through testing, a measurement technology, and ensuring safety and security for people in the world while keeping with Advantest's corporate mission of "Technology Support on the Leading Edge." Advantest made progress (although it was not easy to accomplish such progress) until the collapse of the IT bubble in 2000. Since then, however, the environment surrounding our management has been quite severe and we have experienced significant deterioration in performance. Current semiconductor market conditions do not allow for optimism because the semiconductor manufacturers have postponed capital investments and made limited equipment orders due to weakness in the digital appliance and personal computer market. Even under such difficult circumstances, Advantest has sought to not only improve customer satisfaction but also increase revenue and enhance management stability through the development and expansion of sales of various products that meet semiconductor manufacturers' various testing and measurement needs.

Verigy has high technological competence primarily in non-memory semiconductor test systems and has a global sales network. It is highly complementary to Advantest, mainly in terms of the technology and product lineups.

Advantest believes that the Transaction will allow it to better satisfy customer needs through the development and sale of a greater variety of high quality products and through increased technological innovation that is supported by more stable financial resources and also allow it to achieve sustainable growth in a rapidly changing and competitive semiconductor market.

2. Significance of the Transaction

(1) Highly Complementary Technology and Products

Building on Advantest's strength in memory semiconductor test systems and mass production lines and Verigy's strength in non-memory semiconductor test systems and R&D, we expect to drive technological innovation in the more comprehensive field of automatic semiconductor test equipment. We will also work to enhance growth and profitability by reallocating resources currently devoted to areas of duplicative research and development, with a goal of accelerating our combined technical capabilities and developing new business.

(2) Customer Relationships

We will have a wide and comprehensive range of products, which will enable it to provide customers with the most advanced collection of test solutions, such as improved test efficiency and reduced cost. Expanding our scale of operations is also expected to enhance our ability to provide long-term and consistent service to our customers.

(3) Global Business Development

Through the combination of Advantest, which has developed its business primarily in Japan and Asia, and Verigy, which has a significant presence in the United States and Europe, we will expand our global customer base. We expect to accelerate our globalization efforts at the operation level by acquiring excellent human resources on a global scale.

4. Purchase Price

Advantest agreed with Verigy that the purchase price shall be US$ 15.00 (approximately JPY 1,215¹) per share. The total purchase price is approximately US$ 1.1 billion (approximately JPY 90.9 billion). Advantest determined that the Purchase Price is fair and reasonable after considering various factors such as Verigy's assets and operations and possible synergies and through due diligence and other measures.

5. Funding

Advantest plans to use cash on hand but is also considering a wide range of funding measures, including bank borrowings, in light of business and financial conditions, market trends and other factors, to determine if alternative funding methods might be the most appropriate.

¹For reference purposes only, US dollar amounts are converted into Japanese yen amounts by using the foreign exchange ratio of US$ 1 = JPY 81 (as of March 25, 2011).

6. Method and Procedure for the Acquisition

The Transaction will be structured as a scheme of arrangement under Singapore law. A scheme of arrangement is a popular acquisition method under Singapore law and is a friendly acquisition method because it is implemented based on the approval of Verigy's board of directors, subject to, amongst other things, the approvals of Verigy's shareholders and the Singapore Court.

The consummation of the Transaction will require the approval of Verigy's shareholders. The Transaction requires approval by a majority in number, representing not less than 75% of the voting interest of the Verigy shares held by the Verigy shareholders present and voting, either in person or by proxy, at the meeting of Verigy's shareholders (at which a quorum is present) to approve the Transaction.

7. Timelines

- | | | |
|-----|--|----------------|
| (1) | Execution of Implementation Agreement | March 28, 2011 |
| (2) | Approvals from relevant regulatory authorities | TBD |
| (3) | Verigy shareholders' meeting | TBD |
| (4) | Approval from the Singapore Court | TBD |
| (5) | Acquisition of stock | TBD |

8. Prospects for the Future

Because the closing of the Transaction is subject to, amongst other things, the approvals of the Singapore Court and relevant regulatory authorities, we plan to consummate the acquisition of Verigy after obtaining such approvals. We will promptly disclose any potential impact on Advantest's business performance and financial conditions in relation to the Transaction once such impact becomes clear.
