Message from Mark Bertolini:

Rick Jelinek to lead Aetna integration

Colleagues,

I am pleased to announce that Rick Jelinek has agreed to lead our integration planning efforts for Aetna, including critical Transformation activities that we expect to unlock value for the post-close combined company's customers.

I can think of no better partner. Rick's experience in strategy and integration is the ideal combination for bringing together two complex, industry-leading companies. Rick will continue to lead Aetna Strategy; Karen Lynch will announce new leadership for the markets later today.

Integration planning and post-close integration will require significant efforts across the organization. Marc Robinson, SVP of Enterprise Strategy, will lead the Integration Management Office. Rick and Marc will name additional members of the team soon.

I'd like to thank Rick, Marc and all those who will be joining the effort. But I'd also like to recognize those who will be stepping in to cover the integration team's day-to-day work.

Thank you for your dedication to those we serve and sharp focus on meeting our 2018 commitments to them. Our continued success would not be possible without you.
