SUNTRUST SAYS EXISTING OFFER IS BEST AND FINAL;
CONFIRMS WILL SHARE SAVINGS WITH WACHOVIA SHAREHOLDERS
IF LOCK-UP OPTION INVALIDATED

ATLANTA, GA - SunTrust Banks, Inc. (NYSE:STI) announced today that its existing offer of 1.081 shares of SunTrust common stock for each Wachovia share is its best and final financial proposal.

"We have said all along that our proposal is better than First Union's for Wachovia's shareholders given its higher current value, simpler and better dividend and SunTrust's stronger currency and track record," said L. Phillip Humann, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of SunTrust. "Because we believe our offer is superior and to eliminate any market perception or expectation that we might raise our offer, we are confirming today that the 1.081 exchange ratio is best and final. As such, there will be no revisions to the financial terms of our offer.

"Given our more compatible culture and more conservative cost-saving assumptions, SunTrust also believes its proposal is better for all of Wachovia's constituents - shareholders, employees, customers and communities. SunTrust believes that Wachovia shareholders will recognize that becoming shareholders of SunTrust - a company with a similar risk profile to Wachovia - is preferable to becoming shareholders of First Union, a company with a more volatile earnings mix, a higher risk profile and a checkered acquisition history that has destroyed significant shareholder value."

Humann continued, "We work for the SunTrust shareholders, and we will not do a deal that is not good for them. This is a very attractive financial transaction for SunTrust shareholders at this price, generating over 6% cash earnings accretion after cost savings are fully phased-in. The transaction provides SunTrust shareholders with a 39% dividend increase, or an annual dividend of $2.22 per share, and the merger puts SunTrust in a position to continue to generate excess capital for investment in attractive areas. SunTrust/Wachovia will be an extraordinarily high quality institution, strategically positioned as a financial services leader in the attractive Southeast. The combined organization would fully leverage the talented people of both Wachovia and SunTrust."

SunTrust also reiterated that if the lock-up option that Wachovia granted to First Union is permanently invalidated, SunTrust would pay Wachovia shareholders $440 million in cash, or approximately $2.16 per share, which otherwise would have been paid to First Union. Based on last Friday's closing prices, this would make SunTrust's offer worth $72.91 per Wachovia share, or $3.39 more per share than First Union's proposal. The $440 million represents the assumed in-the-money value of the option at the time SunTrust first made its proposal for Wachovia that was reflected in SunTrust's financial projections to the investment community.

SunTrust will continue to solicit proxies from Wachovia shareholders against approval of the First Union transaction and remains fully committed to pursuing a transaction with Wachovia. SunTrust encourages Wachovia shareholders to send a strong and definitive message to the Wachovia board by voting against the ill-conceived combination with First Union. If the Wachovia shareholders reject the First Union proposal, SunTrust intends to negotiate a combination with Wachovia.

SunTrust is currently challenging in the North Carolina business court a number of aspects of the First Union merger, including the egregious terms of the lock-up stock option granted to First Union. Tomorrow, SunTrust will present its arguments to the judge presiding over that case.
